FBI Identifies Men As Ku Klux Klansmen

ATHENS, Ga. (AP)—Four white men identified as members of the Ku Klux Klan were charged with murder today in the slaying of a Washington, D.C., negro educator.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover announced the arrests Thursday night after an intensive hunt for the slayers of Lemuel Penn, whose car was blasted with shotgun fire July 11 as he drove along a rural northeast Georgia highway.

US-Soviet Agreement On Crisis

Says Both North, South Should Take Part In Debates

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States and the Soviet Union have agreed North and South Viet Nam should be invited to take part in the Security Council debate on the new crisis in Southeast Asia. But an argument has arisen over the wording of the invitation to the rival regimes.

Diplomatic sources said council President Sivert A. Nielsen of Norway proposed calling them North Viet Nam and South Viet Nam.

The Soviet Union insisted that the Communist government be addressed as it calls itself — the Democratic Republic of Viet Nam. The United States said in that case the pro-Western southern state should be called the Republic of Viet Nam.

Preoccupation with such details indicated tensions were easing in the crisis resulting from North Vietnamese torpedo attacks on U.S. warships in the Gulf of Tonkin and retaliatory air strikes by the United States.

Once the niceties of protocol are agreed on, Nielsen planned to convene the 11-nation council, perhaps this afternoon, to give the invitation a formal blessing.

If the two Viet Nams respond promptly, the council could begin debate early next week on the events in Tonkin Gulf. Unless there is new fighting, it will be a post-mortem.

U.S. sources said their government did not have a full-dress debate on Viet Nam in mind when it called for an urgent council meeting Wednesday. They said U.S. Chief Delegate Adlai E. Stevenson asked for the session to comply with the U.N. Charter provision which says member states have the right to defend themselves against armed attack but must inform the council when they do.

Held On Murder Charge

Mother of 14 Kills Man 'for Threats'

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—The mother of 14 children shot and killed a man she accused of threatening to kill her and 10 of the children early today.

Mrs. Senora Williams, 42, told police she fired four or five shots from a pistol at Eugene Ballew, a 6 feet, 8 inch tall man who weighed 235 pounds, as he lunged at her on her front porch. Ballew, 38, staggered through the front door of the

CATV Start Slated Soon at Boonville

BOONVILLE, Mo. (AP)—Construction of a community television antenna for Boonville will start soon and the system should be in operation this fall, Kenneth Winkelmeyer, owner of the Lyric Theater, said Thursday.

The antenna will be on a 540-foot tower, and coaxial cables will be carried on 900 poles set 150 feet apart throughout the town. The 25 miles of cable will cost about $4,000 a mile.

Winkelmeyer said the system will enable Boonville residents to get standard TV pictures from St. Louis and Kansas City of the same quality now received from Columbia and Jefferson City.

Thant Calls Problem Peculiar

Security Council No Viet Solution

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials agreed today with Secretary-General U. Thant's view that the U.N. Security Council is not the unit to bring about a Southeast Asian settlement now.

Thant voiced this opinion, and tossed in some other ideas about the Viet Nam crisis, in a day of talks Thursday with President Johnson, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and other high officials.

Johnson climaxed Thant's one-day visit with a gala White House banquet. The special entertainment and honors, normally accorded only to a chief of state, were designed to stress U.S. support for the United Nations.

On the business side, U.S. sources said the talks on a variety of U.N. problems generally went well and on most items the U.S. government position was in stride with Thant's.

Thant told newsmen that "for the moment, as I see it, the Security Council cannot be usefully involved in a settlement" of the Southeast Asia difficulty. This was so, he said, because the council has limited authority under the U.N. charter, because of the "peculiar" problems in the Southeast Asian picture and because "one of the parties (North Viet Nam) is not a member" of the United Nations.

U.S. officials said today that the United States asked for U.N. Security Council consideration of the North Viet Nam PT boat action because of the U.N. charter calls for a report when a member acts in self defense. The United States says its counterattack against the North Viet Nam boats and bases was in self defense.

The U.S. call for the council session amounts to reporting before the Security Council, not asking it to take any action now, the U.S. officials said.

Thus Thant's opinion, they stated, is in accord with Washington's view on the Security Council's immediate role. U.N. reports indicated both North and South Viet Nam countries would be invited to be on hand in Security Council consideration of the case.

Thant did differ with the U.S. position in saying he favors another 14-nation Geneva conference on Southeast Asia. The Reds endorse that idea. The United States says that rather than having another Geneva conference now, it would be better for the Communists to start living up to the agreements made at the last one.

Absentee Count Underway; No Changes Seen

Four Democratic and four Republican judges — all women — began making the official count Friday morning of absentee ballots cast in the Tuesday primary election in Pettis County.

There was a total of 446 absentees returned in time to be counted and the official tally and vote canvass is expected to require the "better part of the day," according to J. H. Green, county clerk. The count is being made in Green's office on the second floor of the courthouse.

Democratic judges are Mrs. R. A. Malone, Mrs. Ruth Scruton, Mrs. Floyd Lutjen and Mrs. Nellie Lane. Serving for the Republican party are Hazel Palmer, Mrs. Anna Berger, Mrs. Bonita Vaughan and Mrs. Clyde Waters.

No races will be affected by the absentee count although successful Democratic gubernatorial nominee Warren Hearnings could gain on Hilary Bush, who he defeated in the statewide primary Tuesday. The absentee ballots here are heavily Democratic, but most are expected to go for Bush.

A 115-vote edge in Bush's favor separated the two candidates in the Pettis County tally.

Local Tavern Closed By Internal Revenue

Bill's Tavern, 201 West Main, was closed Thursday afternoon by the Internal Revenue Service. According to liens filed in the Pettis County Recorder's Office the closing was due to failure on the part of the owner, Bill Rissler, to pay income and withholding taxes.

Approve Viet Move

House, Senate Display Unity

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress voted overwhelming approval today of the resolution backing President Johnson's actions in the Southeast Asian crisis.

First the House, on a 414-0 roll call, and then the Senate adopted the resolution in a display to the world of bipartisan unity behind Johnson's firm military response to attacks by Communist North Vietnamese on U.S. warships.

In the Senate, there The Senate vote was 88 to 2.

were protests against the resolution from Sens. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., and Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska.

Morse said it was giving Johnson "blanket authority to wage war." Gruening argued, as did Morse, that "All Viet Nam is not worth the life of a single American boy."

In the House, there was no outright dissent, but Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., voted "present" when his name was called.

Powell, asked by newsmen to explain his vote, said: "I have always been a pacifist. I have been for 34 years as a minister. But when my country is absolutely in danger as in time of war, then I will support it."

The resolution had the support of Republican as well as Democratic leaders.

"This is one of those occasions when all of us, whatever our political persuasion, unite behind our commander in chief," said Rep. Frances P. Bolton, R-Ohio, ranking Republican on the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Senate action — with overwhelming approval also certain — was expected this afternoon. A long speech of opposition from Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., delayed action.

House discussion of the resolution was brief with the majority of the speakers, both Republicans and Democrats, expressing firm support for it.

Rep. Ed Foreman, R-Tex., drew boos and groans of disapproval from the Democratic side when he said: "We've heard an awful lot in the last few weeks about trigger-happy irresponsibility. I say, 'What is this?'"

Foreman referred to a news report that President Johnson had announced the air strike in North Viet Nam on nationwide television an hour and a half before the raid actually occurred.

"What kind of responsibility is this?" Foreman shouted. "The parents and wives of the boys who were killed in those strikes are going to be asking."

The Pentagon has denied that the North Vietnamese made any preparation for air raids on their torpedo-boat installations.

In the Senate, Morse was given two hours of time for his protests. But few listened to him. At one point, only two other senators were in the chamber — Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and newly-appointed Sen. Pierre Salinger, D-Calif., who acted as presiding officer.

"The White House now has plenty of power," Morse said. "I oppose granting any more."

Can Look Forward To Cooler Weather

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The weatherman says Missourians can look forward to cooler weather.

He says the highs will be in the 80s Saturday and for the next five days the temperatures will average from 2 to 5 degrees below normal.

The highs Thursday ranged from 100 at Joplin to 87 at St. Joseph.

A few showers or thunderstorms are expected in the southwest tonight. Northwest Missouri had showers during the night, Edgerton reporting .57 and Mercer and Amity .52 of an inch.

On Campaign Strategy

Goldwater Seeking Colleagues Advice

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater told congressional colleagues today he wants their advice on issues and strategy in the coming campaign.

Rep. John Rhodes of Arizona and Sen. John Tower of Texas gave that report after Goldwater spent an hour at a closed-door breakfast meeting with GOP Senate and House members.

About 100 were invited to the session, second in two days. Goldwater aides said most of them were on hand.

Among them was Sen. Kenneth B. Keating of New York, who has said he cannot as of now support the national ticket. Keating left with no comment as to whether the session had affected his views.

"It was a cordial, personal meeting," he told newsmen.

Rhodes said Goldwater plans to open his presidential campaign formally at Prescott, Ariz., on Sept. 4.

Meanwhile, Goldwater's press secretary, Tony Smith, said the senator has written a letter to former Vice President Richard M. Nixon explaining his declaration at the national convention that "extremism in the defense of liberty is no vice."

Smith said Nixon apparently wrote Goldwater asking for clarification of that statement. He said the former vice president is expected to make the letter public in New York.

Rep. William E. Miller of New York, the vice-presidential nominee, said after the meeting he thinks both Keating and Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania eventually will support the ticket.

Tower said Goldwater indicated "a desire to get some consensus of thinking" from Re-

Tension Easing In Asia

Little Action Along Front During Night

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Vietnamese border crisis appeared to ease today as another night passed without a Red attack from the north. But there were continuing reports of U.S. and Red Chinese buildups in explosive Southeast Asia.

And although the only Peking response to the U.S. air strike against North Vietnamese's PT boat fleet has been a torrent of flaming words, President Johnson — as the rest of Washington officialdom — had his fingers crossed.

Government forces and their American advisers along South Viet Nam's heavily reinforced northern frontier were reported in dispatches today to have been anticipating a massive Red attack in reprisal. But U.S. operations officers said only "routine" fighting was reported throughout South Viet Nam.

The South Vietnamese forces remained on full alert near the frontier but American advisers with the government's first division at Gia Linh expressed doubt the North Vietnamese would launch an attack.

"If they had moved in anger, they would have hit us one way or another by now," said Maj. William McMullan of Long Island, N.Y., a senior American adviser with the division.

Hanoi, North Viet Nam's capital, was reported by a Japanese businessman to be "very quiet." Nationalist Chinese military sources in Taipei, Formosa, said today that Red China sent nearly 100 Soviet-built MIG fighters to Hanoi Thursday to public members of the House and Senate on campaign issues. He said Goldwater told the congressmen he intended to "cover the country as thoroughly as possible" during the presidential campaign.

Rhodes said Goldwater and Miller declared "they intend to have a united party behind them if it's at all possible to do so."

Thursday, Goldwater spurned the support of people who act "in a violent way against law and order."

Lodge to Tour Allied Nations On Asian Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge agreed to a request by President Johnson today that he visit Allied capitals to acquaint leaders with the U.S. position and purposes in Southeast Asia.

Lodge, former ambassador to South Viet Nam, made the announcement after a long White House conference.

Johnson walked with Lodge through the White House lobby and turned him over to waiting newsmen and photographers.

Lodge said the President and Secretary of State Dean Rusk asked him to visit an unspecified number of Allied capitals.

He said the itinerary still is to be worked out, but that he intends to leave within a week.

Asked whether he also might visit neutralist capitals, Lodge reiterated that his schedule has not been completed, but said he thought the visit would include Allied capitals only.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: What type of a woman do men fall for? You are the expert so please tell me.

I have always been under the impression that men want to be boss. They go for women who make them feel important, cater to them and give them their way. Yet a big horsey broad in this office came to work wearing a diamond the size of an apricot—evidence that she has snagged a guy any of us would have given a front tooth for.

This girl is bossy, domineering and loud. She never lets her fiancé finish a sentence. She corrects his English in front of everybody and butts in to supply just the right word when he stops for breath.

When he bought her a Valentine's day gift she returned it to the store and got something else with the money.

To put it in a nutshell this beast broke all the rules, but she got the guy. Will you tell me, please, Ann Landers—what goes anyway?—BYSTANDER

Dear By: There are as many different types of men as there are varieties of sea shells. No two are alike. Some men love a domineering battle-axe and others go for the clinging vine. You gotta know the territory, Honey.

Dear Ann Landers: My problem is a bunch of square cousins. They live in a different city and we are all the same age, which is 14. I get their clothes when they are through with them.

I hate their clothes because they are so babyish. My mother thinks they are just darling. When I tell her how I feel she calls me selfish and says I am lucky to have so many things to wear.

When I show up at school in sashes and ruffles and bows my friends howl. Another box of junk came yesterday and these dresses are the worst ones yet.

Do you feel I should be forced to wear clothes I hate? I need some advice and I need it now.—RAGS

Dear Rags: No 14-year-old should be forced to wear clothes she hates.

If you simplify some of the dresses by removing the frills and do-dads, it may be worth the try, but unless you are pleased with a dress you should not be pressured into wearing it just because it is free.

Far better to have fewer clothes—in which you feel comfortable.

Dear Ann Landers: I was particularly interested in the letter from the woman who wrote to say she was unhappy because her invitations to play cards were on the decline. She felt perhaps the reason might be that she was a consistent winner.

Having been a fairly good bridge player myself for over 20 years I would like to give this woman something to think about. Some card players love to be invited, but they never want to have the game at their house. Over the years, I have dropped several excellent card-players because they were not interested in returning the courtesy.

You may think I am cold-blooded but I feel that hospitality and friendship should be a two-way street. A woman who is too lazy or too cheap to clean up her house and prepare a little snack for her friends should not be entertained indefinitely.

There, now I can go back to minding my own business instead of yours.—COMMITTEE OF ONE AGAINST OAR DRAGGERS

Dear Committee: Many thanks for minding my business. Your letter was a good one and I agree with you, not only insofar as card players are concerned but all types of guests.

Spacecraft Center Spends Large Chunk

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The Manned Spacecraft Center is spending more money in Downey, Calif., than anywhere else in the country.

According to figures released today the space agency has $913,291,338 worth of contracts with North American Aircraft Corp., which is located at Downey.

The company is the prime Apollo Moon contractor. California led the nation with $1,287,229,209 in active contracts. Missouri, home of the McDonnell Aircraft Corp., builders of Gemini spacecraft, was second with $637,089,203.

In all, the Manned Spacecraft Center has more than $2.5 billion out in active contracts.

They range from the $9 million Apollo Moon project to a $5 contract for gunpowder to a Shawnee, Kans., gunsmith.

Contracts in Kansas total $6,576.

Bass Gains Nomination In Tennessee

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Tennessee Democrats nominated Rep. Ross Bass Thursday for a U.S. Senate seat over two opponents who made his vote for the civil rights bill an issue in the primary campaign.

Bass, 46, son of a circuit-riding Methodist minister was one of the first members of Congress to face statewide election since voting recently for the controversial bill.

He handed Gov. Frank Clement his first political defeat, carrying seven of the state's nine congressional districts. Businessman M. M. Bullard ran third.

In a Fayette County general election held concurrently with the statewide primaries, Negro-backed candidates lost sheriff and tax assessor races billed as tests of their voting strength in the rural South.

Negroes outnumber whites 2-to-1 numerically in the county, located on the Mississippi border, and voter registration drives by northern college students put hundreds of Negro names on registration books for the first time.

Negro attorney A. W. Willis scored an apparent Democratic nomination in the state senate from Memphis, however, and could become the first member of his race to win a state elective office in this century in Shelby County should he win in November.

Democrats also renominated Sen. Albert Gore for a third term. He won easily from three political unknowns but faces a determined Republican bid in November.

Dan Kuykendall was unopposed in the Republican primary but has been campaigning for months against Gore.

Howard Baker Jr., whose late father was a long term congressman steamrollered nominal opposition for the right to face Bass in the general election.

Bass indicated he did not feel his civil rights bill vote hurt his campaign for the two years remaining of the term of the late Sen. Estes Kefauver. But his opponents hammered away at that issue. He said he considered the heavy vote for him an endorsement of his record, which has followed closely the programs of

Suburban St. Louis Man Accident Victim

PEVELY, Mo. (AP) — Clifford Hart, Jr., 23, of suburban Lemay in St. Louis was killed and six members of his family injured Thursday when the car he was driving hit the end of a bridge on M61 near Pevely.

Hart's 23-year-old wife, Elizabeth, was in critical condition. Their children, Robbie, 7, and Jimmy, 9, and Hart's brother Dennis, 14, were in serious condition.

His mother and father, Clifford, Sr., 45, and Wilma, 44, also were in serious condition at St. Louis County Hospital. All live in Lemay.

Houston Edges Phillies 2-1; Cincinnati Beats Milwaukee

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Dick Farrell of the Houston Colts, the first pitcher to win 10 games this year and who threatened to be the last to win 11, has ended a seven-week famine.

The hard-throwing right-hander defeated the National League-leading Philadelphia Phillies Thursday night, 2-1.

"I couldn't help wondering if it would ever come," Farrell said. There were 11 tries and six losses between victory No. 10 and 11.

Farrell, who had a brilliant 10-1 record on June 14, said he didn't think he was pressing at any time and hadn't thought about a 20-victory season.

Farrell has an 11-7 record now that the famine's ended, and has an outside chance to win 20. But he'd have to reel off the victories as quickly as he did the first 10.

Farrell's victory trimmed the Phillies' edge to 1½ games over the second-place San Francisco Giants, who were not scheduled.

Third-place Cincinnati walloped Milwaukee 9-3 with a 15-hit attack and closed to within four games of the top, Pittsburgh defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-1 and St. Louis downed the Chicago Cubs 5-3.

Farrell allowed only four hits before he was relieved in the ninth after Wes Covington doubled. Gus Triandos' single produced a run and brought in Jim Owens, who finally nailed Farrell's 11th by getting Tony Taylor to hit into a game-ending doubleplay.

The Colts scored their runs in the fourth against Chris Short, 10-6, on a triple by Al Spangler. Nellie Fox' double, a single by Walt Bond and Bob Aspromonte's sacrifice fly.

Deron Johnson and Frank Robinson produced most of the fireworks for the Reds, each collecting a triple, double and single. Vada Pinson chipped in with a homer and triggered a four-run seventh inning uprising against reliever Warren Spahn with a bunt single.

Hank Aaron was the Braves' attack, hitting a three-run homer.

Bill Mazeroski drove in three runs with a double and a single for the Pirates while Bob Friend, 10-11, kept nine Dodgers hits well scattered. Consecutive triples by Manny Mota and Donn Clendenon in the fifth produced the other Pittsburgh run. Tommy Davis, the defending batting champion, stroked three singles for the Dodgers, extended his hitting streak to 18 games and lifted his average to .281.

Uncertainty Hanging Over 31st All-Star Grid Game

CHICAGO (AP) — Uncertainty hangs over both rivals in the 31st All-Star football game which sends a team in mourning, the Chicago Bears, against a team sapped by injuries, the College All-Stars, in Soldier Field tonight.

The champion Bears of the National Football League are pegged a two-touchdown choice in a contest that will draw an estimated 70,000 and be televised and broadcast nationally (ABC) beginning at 9 p.m. EST. Fair and cool weather is predicted.

For the Bears, the uncertainty rests in what manner they may react under pressure after a training season blighted by the auto crash deaths 13 days ago of teammates Willie Galimore and John Farrington.

The Bears have dedicated the 1964 season to both men. For the 50-man collegiate squad, the uncertainty involves the apparent loss of one of their prime threats, the passing of quarterback George Mira of Miami, Fla. Mira's reinjured throwing arm will be a question mark until just before the opening whistle.

Coach Otto Graham, fielding his seventh All-Star team, has two other capable quarterbacks in Southern California's Pete Beathard and Boston College's Jack Connanon.

But Mira was regarded the All-Stars' best bet for a scamper, long-bombing game-breaker of the same pattern as Wisconsin's Ron VanderKelen, who passed the All-Stars to a stunning 20-17 upset of the Green Bay Packers last year.

Mira sustained a recurrence of a muscle strain in his right arm during a Wednesday night drill and how much service he sees will depend on a pre-kick-off test of his pitching wing. Mira took heat treatments Thursday and reported a little soreness was still in his arm.

NFL champions hold a 19-9 victory edge, with two ties played, in this big harbinger of the 1964 football season which is sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

Beathard, Connanon and perhaps Mira are expected to lose a heavy aerial bombardment against the NFL's best pass defenders, including a sticky-fingered quartet of bandits composed of Bennie McRae, Dave Whitesell, Richie Pettibone and Roosevelt Taylor.

Rockets Win Game

In a tight contest Thursday, the Rockets squeezed by the Crickets, 4-3, in the Petite league of the girls' Khoury softball league.

The Crickets managed a home run in the second inning by Linda Mills with none on.

Stacey Morris took the loss for the Crickets with 12 strikeouts. Cathy Allen was the winning pitcher for the Rockets, fanning eight Cricket batters.

Yanks Snap Out of Slump By Use of Yogi's Recipe

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The biggest two weeks of the year in the American League start today, and the New York Yankees got ready for them by leaving their bats in the rack.

That should be bad news for the Baltimore Orioles and the Chicago White Sox.

The last time the Yankees did that they won five straight.

And this time they pulled out the finale of a three-game set in Kansas City, 5-3, by using the dusty bat act that was dreamed up by Manager Yogi Berra as a slump-killer.

The victory put the Yankees four percentage points ahead of the Orioles, with the big series coming up between the two clubs at Yankee Stadium tonight.

The third-place White Sox dropped 1½ games back, when they dropped a 5-2 decision to the Detroit Tigers. The Minnesota Twins edged the Boston Red Sox 6-5 on a fly ball that was lost in the sun, in the other game.

The Orioles were idle, along with the Senators, Angels and Indians.

The Yankees snapped out of their slump in Kansas City by using Yogi's recipe for weak hitting — no batting practice. It was the second time this year that Berra had ordered his team to skip batting drill, and the second time they responded.

The same kind of response would come in handy in the next two weeks — which are being billed as pennant weeks. The Yankees meet the second-place Orioles for four games at home, and then the White Sox come in for four.

Then the Yanks go to Baltimore for three and Chicago for four.

That will wind up the season's business for the Yankees with the competitors. They will not see either team again.

The Yanks are 5-6 against the Orioles, and 10-0 against the White Sox, going into the big fortnight, but they are not certain at this stage if their ace, Whitey Ford, can be counted on for regular work. He has an ailing hip.

That made the continued rehabilitation of onetime ace Ralph Terry good news for the Yanks. Terry got the victory, his third in a row, against the Athletics, although he needed help when the home run ball started to catch up to him again.

Nellie Mathews homered in the fifth and Rocky Colavito hit his 27th, a two-run shot, in the eighth, against Terry.

Roger Maris got the Yanks off in front with a homer in the fifth, and Tommy Tresh hit a two-run triple in the seventh. Elston Howard's wrong field homer in the eighth proved to be the winning run.

Mickey Lolich pitched seven innings and got the victory for the Tigers over the White Sox. Al Kaline started the two-run fifth inning off with a double and hit a solo homer in the seventh for the Tigers. An error helped the Tigers to their first two runs in the third.

Harmon Killebrew's 39th homer of the season, a two-run shot in the third, gave the Twins a 5-4 lead that held up until the seventh, when the Red Sox tied it up. Bob Tillman's sacrifice fly got the tying run home.

In the Minnesota half of the inning, Rich Rollins hit a fly to right field that Lee Thomas lost in the sun. It dropped for a triple and drove home Zoilo Versalles with the winning run.

Will Mira Play?

Strange Things Will Occur In Pre-Season Grid Game

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Will Miami's George Mira be able to play for Coast Guard's Otto Graham in the College All-Star game against the Bears in Chicago?

Ask the San Francisco 49ers. Which is kind of confusing until you consider that it's time for pro football's pre-season exhibitions, when all sorts of strange things happen.

Like Sam Huff playing for Washington in Charlotte, N.C., where his teammate is the presently disabled Sonny Jurgensen. And Jurgensen's favorite Philadelphia target, Tommy McDonald, is nearly 3,000 miles away playing for Dallas in Los Angeles. And Paul Hornung gets back into action in New Orleans.

Opening up the whole affair, and the highlight of weekend, is the annual game between the College All-Stars against the National Football League champion Bears in Chicago tonight.

And Graham, coach at Coast Guard, who will be seeking his second straight All-Star victory, got something of a jolt when Mira, one of the nation's top collegiate passers, came up with a twinge in his throwing arm.

Mira is the property of the 49ers and Graham said it was strictly up to San Francisco as to whether the 1962 All-America choice would be available.

In the meantime he named Southern Cal's Pete Beathard to start against the two-touchdown favorite Bears, who have announced they will dedicate the game to Willie Galimore and John Farrington, Chicago players killed in a recent auto accident.

The rest of the nation's major pro football teams — with the exception of the Pittsburgh Steelers — open their pre-season schedules Saturday and Sunday. The Steelers are idle.

The Saturday night schedule has Green Bay vs. St. Louis at New Orleans, Baltimore vs. Philadelphia at Hershey, Detroit vs. Washington at Charlotte and Dallas at Los Angeles in the NFL, and Denver at San Diego and New York vs. Buffalo at Tampa, Fla., in the AFL.

Sunday Cleveland is at San Francisco in the NFL and Houston at Boston and Kansas City at Oakland in the AFL.

Among the highlights will be the return of Hornung to the Green Bay Packers after sitting out a year's suspension and the appearance of a flock of veterans in brand new livery.

The first three finishers in each of 17 classes will qualify for the first American road race of champions to be held Nov. 12-15 at Riverside, Calif.

There will be six races Saturday and six Sunday.

Alvin Dark To Remain As Manager

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—With the knowledge that Alvin Dark will remain their manager, the San Francisco Giants now can turn back to chasing the National League pennant.

Widely circulated reports that Dark was about to get the ax from Giants owner Horace Stoneham were squelched Thursday by Stoneham.

Said Stoneham in a statement: "I want to take this opportunity to deny all reports that a managerial change is contemplated."

That appeared to wipe out the cloud of uncertainty that had surrounded Dark's future since the appearance of a column in Newsday, a Long Island daily.

The columnist, Stan Isaacs, quoted Dark as saying Negro and Latin American players are physically superior but mentally inferior.

Dark called a special press conference before San Francisco's game Tuesday night in New York to deny making these statements plus others attributed to him by Isaacs.

Later on Tuesday, Associated Press sports writer Joe Reichler quoted an unidentified team official as saying Dark would be dismissed, possibly before the team returned home Aug. 14.

Dark called Stoneham's statement "heart - warming" and "above and beyond his duty."

"I really appreciate him doing this . . . he shouldn't have to step in every time a manager is misquoted," said Dark.

So it was back to baseball.

Wife Beaters Not Hulky, Brutish Men

CHICAGO (AP) — Most wife-beaters in middle class society are not hulky brutes who pound their shrinking violet-type brides whenever they don't get their way, a pilot study indicated today.

Instead, a team of psychiatrists said their small study showed, the men as a rule were shy, sexually ineffectual, reasonably hard working "mother's boys" with a tendency to drink excessively.

And their wives typically were aggressive, efficient, masculine, and sexually frigid.

The psychiatrists said the wives endured physical abuse for years—until one of their children, usually the eldest son, interfered. Then they sought outside help.

Commenting on the stability of the marriages, the psychiatrists suggested the couples had mutually passive and aggressive personality traits that enabled them to achieve a "working equilibrium" in the marital relationship. This delicate balance was upset, they said, when the intervention of the child became a threat.

The preliminary findings were based on a detailed study of 12 families in a predominantly middle class suburban area in Massachusetts.

The study was reported by Drs. John E. Snell, Richard J. Rosenwald, and Ames Robey, Framingham, Mass., in the current Archives of General Psychiatry, published by the American Medical Association.

Elorde was picked for stopping Japan's Teruo Kosaka in the 12th round of the seventh defense of the 130-pound division title. Tiger looked extremely good in stopping Puerto Rican Jose Gonzalez in the sixth round of his first bout since he lost the crown to Joey Giardello.

Little Base For Reports Of Planes

HONG KONG (AP) — American military intelligence sources in Hong Kong said today they had nothing to substantiate reports from Nationalist Chinese military sources that Red China sent about 100 Soviet-built MIG fighters to Hanoi Thursday to reinforce the North Vietnamese air force.

The Hong Kong sources also said there appeared to be no foundation, on the basis of available U.S. intelligence reports, to Taipei reports of "feverish air redeployment" in the southwest China provinces bordering on North Viet Nam.

Earlier, U. S. intelligence sources in Hong Kong had described as "highly inflated" Chinese Nationalist reports that large Chinese Communist army units had been shifted from central China to the southern border provinces.

"There has been some activity in the border provinces but nothing resembling mass movement of troops," one source said.

The Nationalist sources said their information came from intelligence dispatches which also reported that the Communist Chinese had reinforced some of their own air units in Kwangsi and Yunnan provinces, just over the border from North Viet Nam, and on Hainan Island, on the eastern side of the Gulf of Tonkin.

Military sources said there also was a sudden increase in air traffic between Yunnan and Hanoi Thursday, indicating material was being rushed to North Viet Nam from the Chinese province.

Yugoslavian Welcome For Mrs. Kennedy

LADAR, Yugoslavia (AP) — Representatives of the Yugoslav Foreign Ministry welcomed Mrs. John F. Kennedy to Yugoslavia today, but the former first lady did not come ashore.

The yacht Radiant, on which Mrs. Kennedy is cruising the Adriatic with a party of friends, anchored an hour and a half in the harbor.

While several hundred Yugoslavs and foreign tourists gathered on the shore, Foreign Ministry representatives went to the yacht to extend the official welcome.

Mrs. Kennedy told them the cruise from Venice had been very pleasant and that she felt very well. The weather was hot and the sea was calm, but there was a light breeze.

The Radiant was escorted in and out of the harbor by a Yugoslav navy patrol boat. The yacht's next destination was not disclosed, but it was thought it might cruise through the Kornati Archipelago of several hundred small islands off Zadar.

Informed sources said when the visit to Yugoslavia was arranged, Mrs. Kennedy declined to visit President Tito because she still is in mourning for her husband and did not want to give her visit any official character. However, Tito sent his chief of protocol, Dr. Sloven Smoljaka, to Zadar to welcome Mrs. Kennedy if she came ashore.

Fort Wood WAC Dies From Auto Injuries

ROLLA, Mo. (AP) — A Ft. Leonard Wood WAC died Thursday of injuries suffered in an accident four miles west of Lebanon Wednesday night.

She was Miss Vicky Lee Ferguson, 21, driver of a car which overturned.

While two men were trying to help Miss Ferguson and another WAC, Suzanna Marie Graff, 22, out of the car, a second automobile crashed into it. The two women were taken to the Ft. Wood hospital, where Miss Ferguson died.

Women outnumber men among teachers, clerical workers and retail store sales workers, according to the 1960 U.S. census.

Killed by 2 Blasts

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — Eugene Arthur Bailew, 37, was shot to death early today with two blasts from a .38 caliber pistol.

Shepley To 'Get State Off Center'

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Ethan Shepley, Republican nominee for governor, says Missouri has been in the hands of "a small group of people — a monopoly" the last 20 years and he wants "to get the state off dead center."

"Missouri needs a governor who will worry about the people," Shepley told newsmen Thursday while in Kansas City to open his campaign.

"We have been stagnating when we should be moving."

Expressing confidence that he will win in November, Shepley said he had no personal preference of a Democratic opponent because he knew "either way it would be a tough uphill fight."

The former chancellor of Washington University in St. Louis said he will "still be fighting the 'Establishment' for governor of Missouri."

Warren E. Hearnes, who defeated Lt. Gov. Hilary Bush for the Democratic nomination for governor in Tuesday's primary, has charged that Bush was part of the "establishment."

"There is no doubt that an invitation was issued to Hearnes to join the club," Shepley said. "And there is no doubt Hearnes will be part of the establishment."

Shepley said problems requiring attention include the field of education, Missouri's penal institutions, its mental health program and providing for the aged and the aging.

He said he would prefer panel discussions with Hearnes to television debates. He said he doesn't think debate is the best method because "you deal in too many generalities that way."

"Much more effective are panel discussions where you are required to give direct answers."

Last Texas Tower Goes To Salvage

NANTUCKET, Mass. (AP)—The last of a luckless trio of Texas Tower radar platforms off the Atlantic Coast was under tow to a New Jersey scrap heap today.

Texas Tower III was stationed 30 miles off Nantucket on a shoal 50 feet deep. Ten tons of explosive tore it loose from its three giant legs Thursday afternoon. The 6,000-ton platform dropped to the ocean with a mighty splash but it had been packed with flotation material to keep it from sinking. Lipsett division of the Luria Brothers of New York will salvage the scrap metal from the tower.

Demolition of the tower, one of two built in Portland, Maine, marked the end of a $60-million Air Force project that cost 29 lives. Fourteen Air Force crewmen and an equal number of civilian workers were killed when a tower plunged into the ocean 70 miles off New Jersey in a 1961 storm.

The first tower, erected 110 miles off Cape Cod, sank after salvage attempts last September. One civilian workman died when a cable snapped during construction.

Ten years ago the towers promised five extra minutes of warning against attack by enemy bombers. Advances in missile warfare reduced the five minutes to seconds, and the towers became obsolete.

Where Is Meeting Official?

Which came first, the chicken or the egg?

That old-time riddle might be applied to the current dilemma in Sedalia city council. Which comes first, as official legislation of that body — action taken on the council floor, or, action taken at a meeting elsewhere?

The question was raised by Councilman Robert Bader at a recent session concerning action by a joint meeting in the Pettis County Court House of the County court, the mayor and councilmen. Agreement there was made to put Civil Defense on a part-time basis.

Councilman Bader still maintains that the city council should vote again on the council floor to make official the action taken off the floor. Also to be ironed out are some matters pertaining to the CD budget.

At the same meeting when this enigma was in the spotlight excessive humidity and noisy exhaust fans caused Councilman James Askren to suggest moving the meetings to some air-conditioned location. Because of poor acoustics, the city bills almost got approved for payment before they were read. Councilmen had been listening to officers' reports instead.

William R. Parkhurst offered to supply an air-conditioned room for the councilmen and no one can blame the men if they accepted, providing the heat wave lasts much longer.

Parenthetically, in the discussion, an observation was made that city ordinances apparently would not prohibit the council from meeting and transacting business elsewhere since only the meeting dates and starting time are mentioned.

If that is the case, and council can meet officially at other locations, then it might be assumed council's action on civil defense at the court house was proper.

Since no one knows for sure, the subject matter only provokes conjectural solutions. So if the city counselor would only come up with a ruling on this riddle, maybe hot air in the discussion of it would be lessened.

Councilmen then wouldn't be bothered by the heat and could stay right where they usually meet until arrangements are completed to move downstairs — a project now embryonic. Like an egg, perhaps? GHS

U. S. Cattlemen Put LBJ in a Bind

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Johnson cabinet members were holding an informal, unadvertised luncheon the other day as its members frequently do, without bothering the president. Suddenly they got a phone call from the president.

He wanted Secretary of Agriculture Freeman to come to the White House immediately.

Reason was a snafu over the cattlemen's drive to curtail the import of Australian and New Zealand meat. This has the administration in a difficult bind between the cattlemen of the southwest and our best allies in the South Pacific.

It's the Australians who have given the United States its most loyal support in Viet Nam and every other Pacific crisis. Paradoxically, it's the big cattlemen and Goldwaterites who have been yelling the loudest about both action in Viet Nam and a ban on the meat imports of our allies.

What increased the embarrassment of the Johnson administration was that the Senate voted by a lopsided 72 to 15 to put import quotas on foreign beef, lamb, mutton, and other meat. Though our allies were not mentioned, the bill was aimed especially at them and would reduce their sales to the USA by half a billion pounds annually.

Significantly, these imports supply a major portion of the meat to the same class of people which President Johnson is trying to help through his anti-poverty program. It's Australian beef and New Zealand lamb which supply most of the hamburger and cheaper cuts of meat for the American people. Australian beef is butchered from grass-fed steers, whereas high-grade American beef is butchered from corn-fed and fattened steers.

This is why the administration has maintained that actually there is no conflict between U.S. beef and foreign imports and that curtailment of Australian beef would raise the price of meat to Americans who can least afford it.

We Love Mike

Despite this, the Senate zipped the quota bill through as if preparing to go off on a picnic.

Reason was very simple: Senators wanted to pay tribute to the Senate majority leader, Mike Mansfield, who comes from the big sheep and cattle raising state of Montana and who is up for re-election this year.

Everybody likes Mike, even the Republicans. So they gave him a meat vote of confidence, even at the expense of U.S. allies and of the depressed segment of the American population.

Complete circulation of the blood through the entire human body requires only about 60 seconds.

Senators did this, incidentally, by tacking the meat ban onto a bill previously passed by the House admitting elephants, leopards, snakes, lions, monkeys, flamingoes, and ostriches duty-free. In the end this duty-free provision was knocked out on a motion by Sen. Ken Keating, R-N.Y., who claimed that these animals, together with the circus and zoos who buy them, should pay their own way.

Many senators shouted approval of the meat quota because they figured the House of Representatives would undo their irresponsibility. Ordinarily senators consider themselves the responsible body of Congress. But when it comes to paying tribute to a colleague, it's another matter.

However, President Johnson now finds the House in no mood to undo the senators' jag. Sitting in the driver's seat in the House is able Rep. Carl Albert, the Democratic leader from Oklahoma, who loves Lyndon but also wants to get a Democratic slate elected this year. Also potent in the House is Rep. George Mahon from Lyndon's home state of Texas, where the Black Angus and the White Face roam.

They have prevailed on Speaker John McCormack to keep the Senate bill on his desk instead of referring it to the House Ways and Means Committee where it might be delayed, even blocked. McCormack comes from Boston where a large segment of the population consumes hamburgers and low-cost beef. In fact, a large part of Boston lives on fish. Nevertheless, John is inclined to play ball with his southwest colleagues who worship at the altar of the ex-Long-horn.

Ironically, hundreds of non-cattlemen — movie stars, sportsmen, even funeral directors — went into the cattle business after Congress gave cattle the benefit of a capital gains tax. This is the real reason why the cattle population has increased and the price of beef — on the hoof — is low. Ironically also, Goldwaterites are strong in the ranks of the cattlemen.

Politically, however, their lobby is terrific. And President Johnson, facing an election plus a crisis in Viet Nam where he needs Australian support, is in a difficult, embarrassing bind — thanks to the generous tribute the Senate wanted to pay Mike Mansfield.

Wilderness Bill Decision Is Near

By BENNETT WOLFE

WASHINGTON (AP) — After years of consideration and controversy, Congress is about to agree on something called the wilderness bill.

What's it all about?

It is a bill that would provide for preservation of a vast system of wilderness areas in as nearly their natural state as possible. Soothing of men's souls is one of the objectives.

The stated purpose is to keep for present and future generations areas of unspoiled, pristine wilderness, unmarred by roads, buildings, automobiles or motorboats.

Systems of trails would provide access for hikers, mountain climbers, hunters, fishermen and — as Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, once put it in Senate debate — for "all those who find, in high and lonely places, a refreshment of the spirit and life's closest communion with God."

Only minor differences remain to be smoothed out between bills passed by both House and Senate before Congress sends the Wilderness Act of 1964 to the White House for President Johnson's certain approval.

What lands would be included in the system? Initially, more than 9 million acres of National Forest lands, principally in Wyoming, Montana, California, Idaho, New Mexico, Washington, Oregon, Arizona, Colorado, Minnesota and Nevada. An additional 5 million acres, including some forest lands in North Carolina and New Hampshire, may be added later.

Since the Forest Service, an agency of the Agriculture Department, now has control of the areas, why is the legislation needed? Because, in the words of Rep. John P. Saylor, R-Pa., "such areas now enjoy only the protection of the secretary of agriculture, who at some future time could, by the stroke of the pen, remove all or part of such areas" from what protection they now enjoy.

What about commercial activities in the wilderness areas?

Provision is made for commercial services necessary "for activities which are proper for realizing the recreational or other wilderness purposes."

Who opposed the legislation? Such groups as livestock grazers, minerals prospectors, miners and loggers. They feared loss of rights to use of federal lands.

What of their rights under the Wilderness Act? Provision is made for such activities under controls designed to keep them compatible with preservation of the wilderness character.

What about the cost? The legislation does not call for any money. It would simply give statutory protection to existing wilderness areas, establishing a national policy to be carried out by existing agencies. Congress would have the power, however, to vote future appropriations for acquisition of privately owned lands within the boundaries of any wilderness area.

We the Women

"Stay-at-Homeitis" is No Problem for Our Women

By Ruth Millett
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

News item with a London dateline: "British doctors and psychiatrists are combating an ailment reported spreading among housewives—women who find themselves mentally unable to leave their homes without and the shakes."

Well, that's one ailment we don't have to worry about crossing the Atlantic and attacking the women of America.

If there's one thing that housewives in this country do at every opportunity it's GET OUT OF The House.

The American woman's dread of being house-bound has resulted in the second car's becoming a modern day necessity, in the cult of togetherness that takes mama along where papa goes; in the spread of women's clubs and organizations that keep housewives on the go.

The American woman is so bent on avoiding cabin fever that she much prefers to meet with a group of women to hear a book review than to stay at home and read a book. She would rather go to a meeting of her garden club than weed her flower bed. She can't resist helping to form a ladies' auxiliary to any organization her husband belongs to, or a mother's club to any organization that interests one of her children.

It's not having to leave her house that gives the American housewife an attack of the weeps and the shakes. It's being forced by cruel circumstances — to remain house-bound for a week or two that gets her down.

There are probably husbands in this country who wouldn't mind if their wives did get a mild case of stay-at-homeitis. But they shouldn't get their hopes up. It can't happen here.

Marine Parades

By CYRENE DEAR

WASHINGTON — The United States Marine Corps treats Washington residents and visitors to two spectacular parades each Tuesday and Friday evening during the summer months. The Tuesday night performance is held in the shadow of two Jima monument overlooking the nation's capital from the northern end of Arlington Cemetery.

The scarlet coated Marine Drum and Bugle Corps, as well as the United States Marine Band, provide stirring musical background for both ceremonies.

The Friday evening performance is held on the parade ground of the Marine Barracks, the oldest post of the Marine Corps, which has been the residence of the Commandant since 1805. The site was selected by President Thomas Jefferson. These barracks have been the home of the Marine Band since 1801. The band was requested to play at the White House by President John Adams and the tradition has become so well established that it is now considered "the President's own" and plays at many official functions.

During the parade, at the sound of two bells, the barracks mascot, "Chesty II," a bulldog donated in 1961 by a Washington resident, is properly escorted under the floodlights. A highlight of the performance is the Silent Drill Platoon which performs intricate marching maneuvers and variations of the manual of arms without commands. The click of the guns and the tread of feet, with the flag waving in the background is a stirring sight. The colors

Illustrated Autographs

My hint is for autograph collectors. Newspapers usually print pictures of any VIP (very important person) who is coming to the area.

Put out a picture and take it along with you for the VIP to sign.—ANN

DEAR POLLY — I take a lot of the drudgery out of dishwashing by having two draining racks that fit one inside of the other. When the top one is full, I lift it off (dishes and all) and then fill the other one, using my cookie sheet as the extra drain-board. This gives me more time for draining and less for the dish towel.

I also use a bottle brush for washing drinking glasses, as one swish cleans them.—EDITH

DEAR POLLY — Everyone in our town reads the column and we apply many of the hints. Anyone with itching mosquito bites will find that using a brush to lightly scratch will relieve the itch and not break the skin.—MRS. I. M. I.

DEAR POLLY — Your column just goes to prove that many women still hold their homes and loved ones dear. With so many little ones wanting to help mom water the seeds and flowers that are popping up, take one large pail of water, give each child an empty can (any size) with nail holes punched through one end and they'll help mom peacefully and joyfully.—M. B.

GIRLS—I heartily agree with M. B.'s remark about today's women. When using her hint, do be sure the edges around the top of the can are smooth so there will be no little cut fingers. This might be a good place to use the paper cup idea that suggested holes in the bottom for watering plants.—Polly

DEAR POLLY — I have a plastic wastebasket in my kitchen and one in the bathroom. When I need to mop the floor, I empty the wastebasket and use it instead of a bucket and rinse it well after the job is done. Then my baskets are clean as well as the floors.

After cleaning a lampshade with detergent suds, blot with a bath towel, replace and turn the light on so the heat from the bulb will dry the shade quickly.—MRS. H. M. B.

GIRLS — Of course you will never wash a shade unless you are sure the trimming is sewed, not glued, on.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY — A red bow saved my toe. I slept in sofa beds for more than a year before I got the idea of tying a red bow of ribbon on the middle supporting leg to keep me from jamming my toe everytime I got near that bed. After my foot was partially disabled I found that a shiny red bow caught my eye before I jammed the toe. I intend to keep it there. Saves my nerves, too. The bow is not so large as to be too showy and is tied at the side. I enjoy reading the column just to know how many smart as well as thrifty women there are in this good old U.S.A.—GLADYS

DEAR POLLY — Your suggestions for the uses for nylon net are marvelous. My daughter keeps a folded square of the net in her violin case. She had found that some resin still accumulated even though she had been wiping the strings with a soft cloth after she plays. She now rubs the strings with the nylon net about once a week and finds it cleans them thoroughly but gently.

I have discovered a way to keep my purse from sliding across and off the front seat of the car when I am driving. I pull the seat belt through the handle of my bag before I fasten the belt around myself and it is always close at hand should I need to reach for a hankie or sun glasses.—MRS. C. H.

GIRLS — This is safe, too, as I have heard of women's purses being snatched from the car when they stopped for a red light, etc.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY — An old half slip of rayon or taffeta can be used for a loose fitting lining in a skirt. The elastic can be removed and the slip fitted properly to the skirt. Stitch this lining onto the zipper side and top band only. The bottom can be cut off with pinkish shears and hang loosely or left with the lace trimming on the bottom.—ELEANOR

DEAR POLLY — I always pick up a supply of odd dinner plates at our church rummage sales. They are only three or five cents apiece and I use them later to hold cakes and other baked goods that I take to bazaars and bake sales.—VIRGIE

DEAR POLLY — After removing the filling from a U-shaped pillow so I could wash the cover, I carefully inserted the stuffing in a nylon stocking and when I cut off the foot of the stocking and sewed up both ends. This retains the shape of the filling and makes it easier to remove the cover for future washing.—MRS. O. W. JR.

THE DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Pain's Location Only One Fact of Several

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.,
Newspaper Enterprise Association

Q — In a recent column you say that "the typical ulcer pain is localized with a finger tip."

Does one press hard or lightly with the finger? I have a pain about four inches above the navel. Would that be from a stomach ulcer, my gall bladder, or an injured disc?

A — You don't press to locate a pain — you just point. If you have to press to elicit the pain we doctors would call it a point of tenderness rather than a pain. Your own pain could be that of a peptic ulcer, heartburn, gall bladder colic (although this is more common on the right side), pancreatitis, coronary heart disease, strain of the abdominal muscles from coughing, or possibly colitis, although in colitis the pain usually covers a wider area and shifts about.

So you can see that a doctor must know a great deal more about you than the fact that you have a certain type of pain before he can diagnose the cause of your trouble.

Q — My doctor says I have a floating kidney but that there isn't anything to do about it. He did say that it could easily become infected. What is a floating kidney and how will it affect my life?

A — Very little is written about floating kidney any more because it is a condition in which the kidney is not fixed and immovable but may slip up or down a short distance. It will not affect your health, but worrying about it will.

Q Our 17-year-old son was sent home from school with a rash. The doctor says he has infectious mononucleosis. What causes this? What are the symptoms? What is the difference between infection and contagious?

A — Infectious mononucleosis is a disease in which the mononuclear white blood cells are greatly increased in number. It is believed to be caused by an as yet unidentified virus. It is spread from person to person by close contact. In some victims there is a faint rash.

Other symptoms are fever; enlarged, tender lymph nodes, especially in the neck; and sore throat. Cortisone and related hormones or chloroquine are used in the treatment.

An infectious disease is one that is caused by a germ or virus. Not all such diseases are contagious, which means readily passed from one victim to another. The degree of contagion and the mode of transmission of different germs vary.

Classes Never Full

Unemployed Not Accepting Advantages of Retraining

KANSAS CITY (AP)—If you go through a government retraining school you are almost sure to get a job, so you would expect the schools to be crowded.

Actually, however, almost none of the retraining classes are filled, says Roland G. Ross, field director for the Office of Manpower, Automation and Training (OMAT) in Kansas City.

There are 200,000 persons unemployed or underemployed in Ross' six-state area — Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, North Dakota and South Dakota. But fewer than 5,000 of them have completed or are now in training.

Eighty per cent of those who started training have completed it, and 82 per cent of the graduates have jobs, Ross said. That's about 10 per cent better than the national average.

Then why aren't more of the unemployed attending classes? Mostly, Ross believes, because they don't know about the program. And maybe a little more gumption would help.

"I wish people would show more spit and fire in making application for the program," he said. "I am sure they would be referred for training."

The training is available. It's free, and in many cases a person can get $35 a week subsistence payments. Also, the program pays transportation to the town where classes are offered.

Application can be made through any local office of a state employment service.

The manpower people estimate it costs $1,020 to train a man, and they figure he can return that much in six months by getting off the relief rolls and paying income taxes.

"If he has gained a little self respect and the ability to hold his family together, this is a worthwhile side effect," Ross said.

"From my standpoint, the program has been a huge success, but I am not satisfied. We can do a lot better."

GSA To Consider 43 New Buildings

WASHINGTON (AP) — A request for funds by the General Services Administration to acquire sites and prepare plans for 43 new federal buildings in 25 states will be considered by a House-Senate conference committee.

The House allowed no money for the work while the Senate voted $33.2 million, including $1,131,000 for projects in Missouri.

The money is contained in the independent offices appropriation bill for the year that started July 1. The conference committee will resolve differences in the Senate and House versions.

The Senate bill provides $273,000 for a courthouse and office building in Cape Girardeau and $85,000 for an office building in St. Louis.

His wife, Opal May Wyrick, 37, mother of 10, was found strangled Wednesday.

Police said Wyrick, an illiterate, admitted he might have

Dance Erupts Into Fight And Gunshots

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Fights broke out at a public dance Thursday night after it was announced that the featured entertainers, a singing trio called the Impressions, were not going to appear.

Several shots were fired and two persons were injured, one critically.

Jerry Long, 23, suffered a bullet wound in the upper part of the chest. He was admitted to General Hospital.

Daniel Jones, 21, was treated at the hospital for a gunshot wound in the leg.

The dance was held at the Carver ballroom, a former theater at 2605 Prospect.

"When they made the announcement the crowd started to get unruly," said Edwin Hill, who was at the dance.

"People paid $2 or $2.50 to get in, and I guess they were mad that the Impressions were not there. I was."

Maj. Clifford Warren of the Police department said a fight broke out near the stage shortly after the announcement. Warren and other officers entered the building and ejected the man who started the altercation.

Leon M. Jordan, owner of the building, said a second fight started in the center of the hall.

"Then everybody was rushing around," Jordan said. "Someone threw a bottle up and it shattered. Then someone yelled, 'He's got a gun' and people hit the floor."

Witnesses said four or five shots were fired, maybe more. There was mad scramble to get out. Whoever fired the shots apparently left the ballroom with the rest of the crowd.

Most of the crowd dispersed quickly and peacefully.

Willia Cyrus, who promoted the dance, could not be found after the brawl.

Daltons Are Guests At Party for Thant

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. John M. Dalton of Missouri and his wife were among the guests at the White House party for U. N. Secretary General U Thant Thursday night.

President Johnson, host to about 140 guests at the affair, invited Gov. and Mrs. Dalton to spend the night at the White House.

The President, with the Southeast Asia troubles not far from his mind, appeared a bit tired. Talking with reporters, Johnson said it had been a good day in the North Vietnamese crisis, but he held up his hand to show that he was keeping his fingers crossed.

Folk singers Peter, Paul and Mary entertained during the dinner and many of the guests joined in a chorus of "Puff, the Magic Dragon."

Police Offer Ministers Patrol Rides

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — Police have invited ministers and businessmen to cruise the Negro district with them tonight and Saturday night to learn what problems the officers face.

"I want you to see what your town looks like," Capt. Boston Daniels told 125 persons at a meeting Thursday. "There are things going on that will shock you, places that you women-folk would not come near."

Daniels, a Negro, has been placed in charge of police activities in the district.

He called the meeting, first of a series to seek means of preventing a recurrence of last Sunday morning riot in which more than 1,000 Negroes battled police.

A minister told the group he had ridden with police before and knows the officers have problems that most people don't realize.

The Rev. I. H. Henderson, of the Eighth Street Baptist Church said police dogs were "below men's dignity."

"When a man is approached with reason, he'll react favorably 90 per cent of the time," the minister said. The audience applauded his remarks.

Captain Daniels said he was trying to eliminate the use of dogs, but said the dogs will be

Still No New Clues In Poisoning Death

EDWARDSVILLE, Ill. (AP)—The mysterious poisoning death of a woman, who willed most of a $250,000 estate to the Boy Scouts, has yielded no clues.

Suicide has been eliminated as a possible cause of death, Dr. W. W. Billings, Madison County coroner said Thursday. Billings said tests had shown that arsenic trioxide had been administered to Mrs. Pearl Rigg, 82, of Wood River, Ill., for at least 10 days before her death.

"Poison could have been administered over a longer period of time," Dr. Billings said. He said the arsenic damaged the heart, kidney, brain and lungs.

An autopsy was performed after Mrs. Rigg died July 19th at Wood River Township Hospital. Police investigating the case have found no clues.

"There are only two known facts. We have a corpse and there is arsenic in the body," said Capt. Louis Bowman of the Madison County sheriff's office. Capt. Bowman said no motive for murder had been found.

brought in if any situation gets out of hand.

Another meeting of Negro leaders is planned for Tuesday night to form an action group to promote peace and understanding in the district.

"We have heard a lot of talk," said the Rev. Waldo R. White, of the St. Luke A.M.E. Church, "but what we need is action. We need to come together at a meeting."

Khanh Puts Viet Nam On Guard Status

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Nguyen Khanh declared a state of national emergency in South Viet Nam today, suspended normal laws, and ordered general mobilization of manpower and resources.

"We are ready to extend assistance to the people of North Viet Nam to overthrow their Communist masters," Khanh told a news conference.

"I am going now to be with my troops," he added and refused to say more as he stepped into a limousine and drove away. Khanh is a major general in the South Vietnamese army.

The premier appeared to be bracing the South Vietnamese people for a full-scale war against the Communists.

The state of national emergency bans strikes and demonstrations, institutes press censorship, controls food distribution and travel, and imposes curfews in some areas.

Police also were given sweeping powers to search and arrest.

"We said at the beginning of this year that this year would be decisive in our struggle with the Communists," Khanh said. "Now we can say the coming weeks will be decisive."

Khanh was known to be planning a field trip Saturday to the northern provinces of South Viet Nam.

Censorship provisions were not spelled out in the decree, but it said that all press, radio, movies, theater and publications would be censored.

Khanh told the newsmen that "internally, we face a Communist army in our territory of 150,000 men, 34,000 of whom are regular Communist troops."

In addition, he said, there are new threats from Communist North Viet Nam, Cambodia and the Chinese Communists, who he claimed had begun to station troops in North Viet Nam.

"For these reasons," he said, "we see clearly that we may be invaded or attacked at any time."

Kansas Citian Dies When Car Hits Pole

KANSAS CITY (AP) — One man was fatally injured early today when his car smashed into a utility pole in southeast Kansas City.

A hospital spokesman identified the man as Laverne A. Weihe, 34, of Kansas City.

Typhoon Ida Heads Into the China Sea

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — Typhoon Ida roared through Luzon Island's northern provinces today with winds of more than 90 miles an hour and headed into the South China Sea.

Damage was expected to be considerable, but early reports were sketchy.

Although far from the storm's center, Manila had heavy rains which caused some flooding. Winds sent waves crashing over Manila Bay's sea wall. Some people living along the shoreline were forced to leave their homes.

U.S. Air Force and naval bases on Luzon reported no storm damage.

People In The News

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Roy Rogers, king of the Hollywood cowboys, underwent surgery Thursday to correct fused vertebrae in his neck.

The 52-year-old actor-singer was reported in satisfactory condition today.

Rogers' wife, actress Dale Evans, said the condition developed about 10 years ago, after Rogers fell from a horse.

ATHENS (AP) — Queen Mother Frederika of Greece has recovered from a high fever caused by a virus infection, the royal palace announced today.

The announcement said the queen mother, 46, had been confined to bed, but that her temperature returned to normal Thursday. It gave no other details.

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) — Nepal's ambassador to the United States, M.P. Koirala, has resigned, the Foreign Office announced today. The announcement gave no reason, saying only that King Mahendra had accepted Koirala's resignation effective Aug. 18.

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard Burton has set a record. He's played "Hamlet" more times in New York than any other actor.

Burton's performance Thursday night at the Lunt-Fontanne Theater was his 133rd, one more than the 1936-47 run of Sir John Gielgud in the role.

Rabbis End Fast After Being Freed

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Two rabbis, who were jailed Monday along with seven other clergymen on a three-year-old sit-in charge, got out Thursday night and headed straight for the dinner table.

They said they had been fasting for the four days.

Each ate a big steak, and they were still sitting at the table when the seven other clergymen left the usually segregated hotel dining room for a news conference.

"It was the best fast I ever had," said Rabbi Israel Dresner of Springfield, N.J.

He and Rabbi Martin Freedman of Paterson, N.J., said the fasting had been a personal protest against racial injustice.

The clergymen — six whites and three Negroes — were released from jail Thursday night by the same judge that had found them guilty of unlawful assembly in 1961 during a "freedom ride" testing an Interstate Commerce Commission order wiping out segregation at transportation terminals.

"The judge, in effect, threw us out of jail," said the Rev. John W. Collier of Newark, N.J., Negro pastor of the Israel Memorial AME Church. "He said we were not needed in Tallahassee. He said we were needed in the North to quell riots."

The clergymen, still in blue denim uniforms, were taken from jail to the courtroom late in the day. Municipal Judge John Rudd read an order reversing a previous decision on a petition for mitigation of sentence.

He reduced the 60-day sentence, which the clergymen had chosen over $500 fines, to the time they already had served. The surprise action ended three years of fruitless appeals and came just as new appeals were being started.

"One result of Judge Rudd's action was that each of us now has a permanent criminal record, a fact that Judge Rudd informed us about with considerable relish," the clergymen told a news conference in a prepared statement.

However, they said: "We interpret our release as a victory for the cause of civil rights and an admission by the city that the original case was without foundation."

They said they had been treated fairly in jail, although the Negroes were cursed one day by a guard while stacking bricks. They said a complaint had been made to prison officials and profanity had stopped.

Their only objection to the four-day stay in prison was the segregated cells, Collier said.

Big Moonshine Cache Confiscated In Raid

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP) — Federal, state and Kern County authorities raided the home of 33-year-old Otis Sledge Thursday to climax a three-month investigation.

They found 15 gallons of moonshine corn whisky and 250 empty bottles.

Sledge was jailed on a charge of selling and possessing illegal whisky.

It is estimated that 40 per cent of all U.S. wives are employed outside the home.

Pastor Holds Services At Water's Edge

MONTICELLO, Ky. (AP) — The Rev. Delmar Rodgers sometimes finds his congregation in play clothes.

But, it's only natural because many of the worshippers come by boat.

Once a month, the young minister of the Monticello Christian church conducts a 30-minute Sunday evening service at near-by Lake Cumberland.

The Rev. Mr. Rodgers describes his waterside service as an effort to unite pleasure and Christianity. His pulpit generally is the deck of a boat.

"A lot of people in our congregation have boats. Rather than let the boats become a wedge between them and their faithfulness to the church, we have the service at the lake," the minister said.

"Let's say its accommodating. Those with boats feel they're putting them to good use."

The service is sponsored by the young people of the church. It began last summer and attendance has averaged about 100 persons.

Dress is informal though the minister explains "We ask for some measure of dignity. The people definitely are on vacation. Some stay on their boats during the services."

Rodgers has been in this south-central Kentucky town of 3,000 population for about one and one-half years. He came from Rockford, Ill. Previous pastorates were in large cities, including Chicago.

His lakeside services are limited to 30 minutes of music and a brief sermon.

For music, "We use local talent and quartets such as we can find."

The site of the service also is accessible by road and is near a popular spot called Conley Bottom.

"It's a good place for swimming and boating," Rodgers explained. "Folks have been congregating in that area for a long time. It's a natural place to go."

The playground-church site has acquired a nickname: Christian Point.

World News Glimpses

ROME (AP) — Italy's new government settled down to work today with full power granted by Parliament.

The Chamber of Deputies Thursday night followed Senate approval and voted 344-338 for Premier Aldo Moro's four-party coalition and its program.

Moro's major problem is Italy's economic slump. But the Viet Nam situation took the spotlight Thursday night as he made support of the United States part of the confidence test.

LONDON (AP) — A surgeon said today that the maximum age at which women can become mothers has steadily increased in recent years.

A careful study of hospital records, Dr. Donald Frommer wrote in the British Medical Journal, reveals that mothers are often past 50 before they cease to be fertile. The average is four years later than in their grandmother's day, he said.

Dr. Frommer, a surgeon in Hertfordshire, said the reason is not known.

He suggested it might be the result of better diet and living standards.

SINGAPORE (AP) — Police patrolled Singapore's Geyland District today following clashes between Chinese and Malays that threatened new racial violence in the riot-scarred city.

Police said a small mob attacked a motorcycle rider and set fire to his vehicle. They said a Malay was the ringleader.

A police announcement over the government radio said "organized rumor mongering" was sparking the incidents and warned that it could lead to a renewal of last month's race riots in which 23 persons were killed and 460 injured.

Independence Man Victim of Injuries

GREAT FALLS, Mont. (AP) — Neck injuries received a week ago in a car accident caused the death Thursday of Fred E. Skinner, 65, Independence, Mo.

The car driven by his son, Gary, 18, went out of control on U.S. Highways 87-89 following a near cloudburst. The Highway Patrol said Skinner was thrown from the car and apparently hit by a small trailer that broke loose when the car skipped from the pavement.

The son was not injured.

Missourian Killed By Lightning Bolt

ESTES PARK, Colo. (AP) — A 46-year-old Missouri woman was killed by lightning Thursday in North-central Colorado.

The victim was Mrs. Leola H. Swain of Archie, Mo., killed as she stood near a stone retaining wall at Medicine Bow Curve on Trail Ridge Road, 25 miles west of Estes Park.

Mrs. Swain's husband and two other members of the party were about 100 feet away when the lightning struck, but were not injured.

Takes Church From Stained Glass Jungle

By KIM FORMAN
HELENA, Mont. (AP) — The Rt. Rev. Chandler W. Sterling, a former professional jazz musician, has some far-out themes to keep the Episcopal Church jumping in Montana.

Bishop of the Montana Diocese, the spiritual leader of 12,000, he has a reputation for independent thinking and frank speech.

"I'm trying to take the Church out of the stained glass jungle," the 53-year-old bishop said. His office is on Helena's main street, Last Chance Gulch. He is proud of his western background and wears a tooled cowboy belt and large silver buckle with his clerical clothing.

Here are some of the things that have made him controversial.

— He says the Apostles didn't understand Christ.

— He brought the first Negro clergyman into the state.

— He uses breezy, modern language in an informal way that surprises conservative churchmen.

Bishop Sterling refers to the Apostles as businessmen, interested in their own advancement and possible political advantage. He said Christ is probably as misunderstood today as he was nearly 2,000 years ago.

He opens his guest speaking engagements by sitting at the organ and playing revival tunes and Negro spirituals. He asks the audience to clap hands and relax.

"We need a modernization of church language," he said. "I am referring to all churches. I don't think we are getting our message over. I am convinced the New Testament is not intelligible to most people."

When one woman complained about the Negro clergyman he brought into the state, he told her priests come in several different colors and she should have specified a choice.

When his oldest daughter was married in the Roman Catholic Church, he gave the bride away in traditional style. He later said Christians will all be united one day anyway.

"The churches are moving too slowly," Bishop Sterling said. "They have emerged from the horse and buggy into the Model T age, but that's about as far as they have gone."

Bishop Sterling wants more adult instruction classes, but not necessarily on Sunday.

He went to Northwestern University of Evanston, Ill., for four years and then Seabury Western Seminary.

Born in Dixon, Ill., he is married and has one son and seven daughters.

Still Fight World War II On Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Radio-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — All around the Hollywood studios, in this comedy year, television actors are playing their scenes for laughs. But on the back lots of MGM and Universal-Revue, World War II is — still — being refought under the sizzling California sun.

"Combat," ABC's drama, soon will start its third season battling from the Normandy beachheads to the Maginot Line, a more leisurely trip than the real fighting men made some 20 years back.

At busy Revue, a portion of the battle of the Bulge is being recreated at one end of a small artificial lake. The other end is a snow-covered Alaska scene, part of a motion picture in the works.

The war show in progress is called "Operation Grief" based on a real episode of the war when specially-trained, English-speaking German saboteurs were dressed in GI uniforms and sent behind the allied lines to make serious mischief. It will be one program of NBC's returning "Suspense Theatre" anthology series on Thursday nights.

A muddy road had been created beside the lake and actors in grimy uniforms were resting — like real, tired soldiers in the shade of fake trees. One, particularly dust-covered and sporting a three-day beard, arose. It proved to be Robert Goulet, the handsome young baritone, who is making his TV acting debut in the episode.

Fess Parker, making an easy character shift from Davy Crockett to Daniel Boone this year, was nipped on the neck Wednesday by a bear cub. The scene involved was one where the intrepid backwoodsman was "grinning down" — staring down — the animal instead of shooting it. The minor wound was treated, disguised with makeup and Parker kept on working.

Young People Now Welcome At the Gates of Hollywood

NEW YORK (AP) — Young man, if you want to storm the gates of Hollywood, now is your time to march.

"Young people are welcome now, because everybody realizes we must have new blood," said veteran producer-director Fred Zinneman.

"Talent is the thing. If you have talent, you are very much needed. If not, you might as well beat your head against a wall."

There was no welcome mat out for Zinneman, when he came to the film colony from Vienna, Austria, after he abandoned earlier plans to become either a concert violinist or a lawyer.

"When I first set foot in Los Angeles," he recalled, "there was still an obsolete ordinance in effect making it illegal to shoot rabbits from the rear platform of street cars."

"It was very hard to become a director then. Everything was channeled. The big studios weren't taking chances on young people."

"It's completely changed now. There is no central authority, no front office anymore. Everything is more wide open."

Zinneman started as an extra and also worked as a script clerk.

Although he won an Academy Award in 1933 for a film short, it wasn't until he made "The Search" in 1948 that his directorial genius was fully recognized—19 years after he arrived in Hollywood with high hopes and empty pockets.

His hopes are still as high, but

Rev. Kueckner, Guest Speaker at St. Paul's

Writes Note Of Apology To Cabinet

WASHINGTON (AP)—With a grin, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said today he had written a note to fellow Cabinet members to this effect:

"I am sorry to have taken so many nice fellows over the side with me."

This was a reference to President Johnson's pronouncement last week that no Cabinet member, and nobody who sits regularly with the Cabinet, will be tapped as Johnson's vice-presidential running mate.

Kennedy and other Cabinet members, ineligible all, spoke at a sort of school for Democratic congressional candidates, advising them how to present issues and put their best foot forward in the drive for Democratic victory in November.

Kennedy called for the election of Johnson, saying this is the way to carry out programs "begun in 1961," when the late President John F. Kennedy took office.

Looking over the audience of about 200 candidates and their families, convened by the Democratic National Committee for the opening of a three-day session, Kennedy said, at the outset:

"I am a little bit in awe of you when I think of my own position."

"You are not members of the Cabinet, and you don't meet regularly with the Cabinet, and therefore you are eligible for vice president."

When the President's decision came out, Kennedy said, a lot of people asked him how he felt. At first, he said, "I thought of saying that I thought the President was a little premature in eliminating Dean Rusk."

People Showing More Zeal For Paying Up Old Debts

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans suddenly are showing more zeal in repaying old debts and less enthusiasm for taking on new ones.

Since World War II especially, installment credit has become a way of life for more and more American families. Can this be changing? Or do the latest figures, surprising to some, reveal just a passing readjustment before a new sprint in extending the "enjoy now — pay later" vogue?

The Federal Reserve Board reports that in June on-the-cuff purchases had their slowest growth in nine months. And repayments of old loans is termed quite high. The board also calls cash payments in department stores more active than just a few months back.

The U.S. Treasury joins in with a report that government savings bond sales in July rose above the June figures.

The Federal Reserve Board of New York adds that in addition to paying old bills, consumers are saving a large portion of the federal income tax cut.

The U.S. Census Bureau this week also has revised its earlier figures on retail sales in June. Earlier it had estimated they set a record. Now it finds they fell slightly below sales in May. But the $71 million cut in the previous figures still leaves retail sales in June at an impressive $21,675,000,000 and retailers are confident that sales will rise this fall.

While consumers were spending the near record amount in June in the stores, they were also putting out $5,029,000,000 to repay their installment debt. The Federal Reserve Board terms the average repayments in the second quarter of the year "the best on record."

The wonderment arises because in the first three months of the year there was a big jump in outstanding consumer credit and also in retail sales. Most of this period was before the income tax cut went into effect. The increase in take-home pay was supposed to pep up both activities markedly.

Since then, neither sales nor installment credit expanded as had been predicted.

Extensions of installment credit in June came to $5.4 billion. But taking into account the repayments, this brought total consumer installment credit outstanding to $55.9 billion, up only $370 million from May. This was the smallest gain since the $341 million last September.

And it's the trend that businessmen are watching just now, more than the record total. They know that Americans owe a great deal which they expect to repay at regular intervals. What the businessmen are watching is how fast, or how slow, this total is growing.

Campaign To Void Race Law

Opposing Sides Pull In Forces

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Mention Proposition 14 in California in the next three months and it's likely the ensuing debate will outdo even a Goldwater vs. Johnson argument.

For on Nov. 3, voters in the nation's most populous state will vote on Proposition 14 which, depending on your viewpoint, will: —Lock segregation by housing into the state constitution, or —Restore to property owners the right to absolute freedom in deciding to whom they rent or sell housing.

Opposing sides are marshaling their forces, one group led by Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown, the other by the California Real Estate Association. Early polls indicate the Brown led Anti-Proposition 14 camp is an underdog.

Focal point of the bitterly emotional dispute is the so-called Rumford Housing Act passed literally in the dying minutes of the 1963 legislature to the tears and joyful singing of civil rights advocates who staged a 24-day sit-in under the Capitol rotunda.

The measure outlaws discrimination because of race, color, religion, national origin or ancestry in about 70 per cent of California housing.

Violators who reject private state conciliatory efforts either must accept the tenant or purchaser, give him housing similar to that refused, or pay up to $500 in damages.

After an earlier attempt to postpone implementation of the law failed, the California Real Estate Association led a successful drive for the required 468,299 signatures to put an initiative on the Nov. 3 ballot.

The key, specific language of the initiative, which would be put into the state constitution as a new section, is:

"Neither the state nor any subdivision or agency thereof shall deny, limit or abridge, directly or indirectly, the right of any person, who is willing or desires to sell, lease or rent any part of all of his real property, to decline to sell, lease or rent such property to such person or persons as he, in his absolute discretion, chooses."

The effect would be to nullify the Rumford Act, parts of other existing equal rights statutes whether state or local, and prohibit the legislature or local governments from enacting future legislation barring housing discrimination.

Four Men Are Arrested In Penn Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI announced Thursday night the arrest of four men in Athens, Ga., in connection with the July 11 killing of Lemuel A. Penn, a Washington, D.C., Negro educator.

Penn, a lieutenant colonel in the Army Reserve, was shot to death as he drove along a north-west Georgia highway en route from a training period at Fort Benning, near Columbus, Ga.

The 49-year-old educator was struck by gunfire from a passing car as he drove in the early morning hours near Colbert, Ga. Two men with him were not injured.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said four arrested men are Ku Klux Klansmen and identified them as:

Cecil William Myers, 25, married, of North Athens, a yarn-picker and laborer.

Joseph Howard Sims, 41, married, a machinist, of Athens.

James S. Lackey, 28, married, of Athens, employed at a gas station.

Herbert Guest, 37, who operates an Athens garage. He is married.

The FBI said bond for the men has been set at $25,000 each and they are being held in the Clarke County jail at Athens.

Hoover reported Sims was arrested at the Athens headquarters of the Clarke County Klavern, No. 244 of the United Klans of America, Inc., Knights of the Ku Klux Klan.

The four men were charged under the federal civil rights (Please turn to page 4, col. 2)

Symington Will Open Campaign

Sedalia will be well represented at the campaign opening for United States Senator Stuart Symington at Paris, Mo., Saturday. Several car loads of Symington supporters plan on making the trip.

The opening will be a statewide rally to be at the Mark Twain Park near Paris, where Missouri politics, bands, balloons, antique cars, folk singing, Missouri humor and plenty of good food will add up to a day of good times for Senator Symington and Missouri Democrats.

Several thousand persons are expected to be on hand, not only for the speaking, but the day-long affair, opening at 10 a.m. when the Senator will hold a press conference; a parade at 11 a.m. followed by plentiful barbecue luncheon served by Walter Jetton, famous Texas caterer who serves President Johnson's barbecue at the LBJ Ranch.

Symington will give his opening campaign speech at 2:30 p.m. He will be presented to the crowd by U.S. Senator Edward V. Long.

All of Missouri's Democratic nominees are expected to be on hand for the gathering.

scale debate early next week on the Southeast Asian crisis with delegates from both sides of divided Viet Nam taking part.

Norwegian Ambassador Sivert A. Nielsen, president of the 11-nation council, conferred with other members on a formula for inviting both South Viet Nam and North Viet Nam to the council table.

Among delegates with whom he talked was Soviet Ambassador Platon D. Morozov, who voiced objections in the council Wednesday to issuing an invitation to South Viet Nam.

Despite the Soviet frostiness most diplomats expected that a majority of the council would go along with extending a joint invitation.

They said the council could be called into session as early as Friday to hear a report from Nielsen on his consultations and in effect to give formal blessing to the invitations.

The invitations would be sent out at once. If there is a prompt response a meeting of the council could be called for early next week, allowing the rival delegations time to fly to New York.

The council decided Wednesday to let Nielsen sound out the members and let them know the time and place for the next meeting.

Silent Drama May Show Whether Chinese Plan Followup Invasion

Confrontation Disclosed By US Air Force Fleet

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—A regiment of North Viet Nam's infantrymen faced Saigon's reinforced 1st Division at the Ben Hai River border on Thursday night in a silent drama that may show whether the Communists aim to follow up Gulf of Tonkin hostilities with an invasion.

The frontier confrontation was disclosed as a fleet of U.S. Air Force B57 jet bombers, which are capable of carrying nuclear weapons, settled down at Saigon and joined American and South Vietnamese forces already standing watch against any thrust from the North.

With a 2,000-mile range that could cover all North Viet Nam and an arc of Red China from Kunming to Canton, they flew in from Clark Field in the Philippines. Thirty were parked on a runway apron newly vacated by F102 Delta Dagger jet fighters, which evidently moved farther north.

One of the high-flying B57s, however, never arrived. U.S. official reported it crashed in Communist-occupied territory about 25 miles northeast of Saigon and the two crewmen aboard probably perished. Search planes that flew over the wreckage spotted no sign of life.

Brig. Gen. Nguyen Chanh Tri, commander of South Viet Nam's 1st Division, told reporters at his field post that the North Vietnamese regiment moved a week ago into the northern area of the demilitarized zone that has divided Viet Nam for a decade.

"They are waiting, as we are waiting," he said.

Official views of the chances for expanded war or relative peace seemed to vary in direct relation to the speaker's distance from the frontier.

Tri said the North Vietnamese "lost so much face when U.S. planes attacked their bases Wednesday that they must certainly reply."

Tri said he was confident his forces could withstand any initial attack.

U.S. advisers and Vietnamese officers in the heavily garrisoned city of Hue, only 40 miles from the border, leaned to the belief there would be a massive attack.

In Saigon, 400 miles to the south, the general feeling was that the next 24 hours would tell the story and, if nothing important happened in that time this week's crisis probably would be over.

No Action Forseen By Red China

In Gulf Of Tonkin Crisis; Could Lead To Hot Asian War

HONG KONG (AP)—Competent sources are inclined to doubt that Red China will take any steps in the Gulf of Tonkin crisis that would lead inevitably to broadened war in Asia.

U.S. air strikes against Communist North Vietnamese installations were only 50 miles south of China's border, and Peking has been saying it would intervene in Viet Nam if it judged that the United States had carried the war to North Viet Nam.

The situation therefore carries the danger of general Asian war, but Red China has little to gain from such a conflict at this stage. Its leaders would be more likely to feel time is with them in Southeast Asia.

In addition, Peking is known to be short of gasoline and to lack a sufficient industrial base for its war machine should it be involved in prolonged military conflict.

Intelligence sources say there is no evidence of any massive military buildup on the Indochina border to indicate readiness for Red Chinese movement into North Viet Nam.

Peking could try intervening in the style used in Korea, with "volunteers," or it could try using the crisis as a pretext to heat up the guerrilla war in Laos, a jungle conflict suitable for Chinese capabilities.

But the chances are even that such intervention would lead to a rapid escalation of the struggle in Viet Nam and precipitate the major war that Peking, according to many experts here, does not want.

Declines To Explain Details

Thant Has New Formula To Bring Peace In Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary-General U Thant said Thursday he does not believe the U.N. Security Council can be "usefully employed in a settlement" at this stage of the Southeast Asia crisis precipitated by North Vietnamese attacks on U.S. warships.

Thant added, however, that he has suggested to President Johnson a new formula for keeping the peace in Southeast Asia. He declined to make public any details.

Thant spoke with newsmen following private talks with Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk. These sessions were held after Thant had begun his one-day visit — planned long before the current crisis—by receiving a welcome of the kind usually reserved for chiefs of ed states called for Security Council consideration of what it described as calculated aggression by Communist North Viet Nam.

Thant told reporters that because of the circumstances surrounding the PT boat attacks on U.S. destroyers and the subsequent U.S. air strike, he does not feel that the Security Council can act effectively now. He pointed out that one of the parties — North Viet Nam—is not a U.N. member.

Stressing that it is only his personal view, Thant said he feels there should be another 14-nation Geneva conference on Southeast Asia.

Goldwater, Miller Talk Over Plans

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Republican running mates Barry Goldwater and William E. Miller talked campaign strategy and party unity Thursday with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and his vice presidential partner, Richard M. Nixon.

The Republican leaders met privately at Eisenhower's farm outside Gettysburg.

Goldwater and Miller flew here from Washington after a private breakfast with nearly 100 Republican congressmen.

The Arizona senator said he came to talk with Eisenhower and Nixon about efforts to solidify the party for the campaign ahead, and about the role they will play in the presidential race.

Goldwater said he would like Eisenhower to campaign for him in the Northeast, in Illinois and California. He said he wanted to know how much campaigning Eisenhower could undertake.

As he worked to unify his own party, Goldwater said both Republicans and Democrats are lining up behind President Johnson in the crisis in Southeast Asia.

But he said foreign policy will be an issue in the campaign.

At this point, he said, the situation in Viet Nam is not a political issue.

"The people in both parties will unite behind the President as they always do in time of crisis," Goldwater told a Washington news conference.

"I have a feeling that the whole foreign policy subject, not just Viet Nam, will be an issue. I don't see how it can be avoided."

Goldwater said Johnson took the only action he could in ordering U.S. retaliation when Communist patrol boats attacked U.S. destroyers off Viet Nam.

"For too long we've allowed ourselves to be fired on and turned the other cheek," he said. "When the bee stings you go to the hive and I'm afraid the hive has been a little too sacrosanct for a long time."

A reporter asked whether Goldwater thinks the action in Viet Nam will quiet charges that the administration is "soft on communism."

"I don't think it's even been the case of being soft on communism—its just a case of misunderstanding what the Communists' ultimate intentions are," the senator said.

Thant described his talks, held both at the White House and the State Department, as cordial and fruitful. He said that in addition to the Viet Nam situation, they touched on such U.S.-U.N. concerns as the U.N. financial situation, the Cyprus problem, and world trade.

Adlai Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, told reporters Thant expressed his views "freely, and on many subjects of interest to us all over the world."

Johnson welcomed Thant with an assurance of continuing U.S. support to make the United Nations stronger and said "America's purpose is to prevent war and to prevent others from provoking war."

New Garbage Ordinance Under Study

Mayor L. L. Studer said Thursday that city councilmen now have a revised version of the proposed garbage collection fee ordinance and are giving it further study.

No decision has been reached as yet to the monthly charge for residence collections, however, he said.

City Council heard a garbage fee ordinance read one time at the July 20 meeting, but when copies were distributed and the measure studied the council ordered the proposition redrafted. The controversial ordinance was the key subject at a closed-door council caucus on July 30, but the measure was not discussed at Monday's council meeting.

If councilmen agree on the terms of the revised ordinance and concur on the monthly collection charge, the new version could come up for first reading on Aug. 17. Mayor Studer originally proposed a $1 per month residential collection fee, but indications are that this figure may be hiked.

Possible Victims Of Abduction Continue Search For Killer Of Men

PHILADELPHIA, Miss. (AP)—FBI agents fanned out around Old Jolly farm Thursday, questioning residents for clues to who killed three civil rights workers and buried them in a red-dirt dam.

The FBI said it believed the three were victims of abduction and murder but steadfastly refused to confirm or deny widespread rumors of imminent arrests.

Deputy Sheriff Cecil Price said pathologists found three bullets in the Negro and one each in the two white youths. All had been shot from the front.

The text of an affidavit for the search warrant issued Monday disclosed that Roy K. Moore, FBI chief in Jackson, said he had received information from a reliable source, not identified, that the bodies were buried on the Old Jolly farm southwest of Philadelphia. The affidavit also said it was believed the three were victims of "abduction and murder." The U.S. District Court in Biloxi, Miss., issued the search warrant Monday and the FBI uncovered the bodies at dusk Tuesday after a bulldozer search and a dragline sliced into the freshly made dam.

The discovery ended a relentless less 44-day search by FBI teams aided by 400 sailors from nearby Meridian ordered into the massive hunt by President Johnson soon after the trio vanished June 21.

Private pathologists in Jackson identified the bodies of Andrew Goodman, 20, and Michael Schwerner, 24, both white New Yorkers. The third body is apparently their Negro companion, James Chaney, but sufficient scientific background on Chaney has not yet permitted the FBI to confirm the identity officially.

FBI agents, in numbers larger than at any time since the early days of the search, were sighted at four different homes near the farm on which the dam was located, asking questions of the residents.

The federal investigators also interrogated workers at the truck line company of Olen Burage, who owns the farm. The truck firm is located between Philadelphia and the grave site which is about six miles southwest of here.

HST, a Rumor - Squasher

"The flying rumours gather'd
as they roll'd,
Scarce any tale was sooner
heard than told;
And all who told it added
something new,
And all who heard it made enlargements too."

Thus wrote the English poet, Pope, 250 years ago about a characteristic of the human race that antedated and postdated his own time.

This phenomenon of communication is more pronounced on eves of political elections, one of which is now upon us as Tuesday primary day approaches. So we hear banded about now the usual stories which do not have any known authority for their truth and, hence, are called rumors.

Once started rumors are swifter than the spacecraft Ranger 7 which landed on the moon Friday. Speed lends them strength.

Obviously the evil a rumor may do whether at election time or any other time should prompt a listener to be cautious of its acceptance and in its repetition.

Stimulated by the proper desire, little effort is required of anyone to search out the truth in areas where it should be revealed for the benefit of all concerned. If this desire does not exist, then rumors and half-truths, too, should be ignored if the principle of fairness is to prevail.

One of the best rumor-squashers of current days is Former President Harry S. Truman. At a news conference he was asked if he was part of the rumored "establishment," an ephemeral political catchword originated by a temporary coalition of Democratic and Republican opponents of Hilary Bush, candidate for governor of Missouri.

Mr. Truman quickly replied that he didn't quite know what (establishment) meant but "if it means an organization that can lick him (Bush's opponent) well, I'm a Democrat all the way through."

At the outset of the news conference called by Mr. Truman and with Lt. Gov. Bush at his side, the former president gave about as tersely cogent an endorsement of Mr. Bush as we have ever heard:

"You want to know whether I'm for this fellow or not. Well, I am."

You can put that down as truth, not rumor. These pithy words delighted hundreds of thousands of Missouri regular Democrats, and many on the fringe line, like this writer, who after 20 years finally found a subject of agreement with Mr. Truman—an endorsement of Hilary Bush for Governor of Missouri. Goldwater May Offer to Pack Court

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON—Barry Goldwater's strategy to win the south is to offer to pack the Supreme Court with pro-segregationist judges.

At least three of the liberal justices are beyond retirement age and Goldwater as president would be able to fill anywhere from three to five vacancies during his first term. Chief Justice Earl Warren, who wrote the famous 1954 school desegregation opinion, is now 73. Justice Hugo Black, a crusader for civil rights, is 78. Justice William O. Douglas, equally strong in fighting against segregation and for the re-apportionment of state legislatures, is 65 and has been talking about retiring.

Goldwater strategy was revealed to James D. Martin, Republican candidate for the Senate in Alabama, who in 1962 came within 5,000 votes of defeating veteran Senator Lister Hill of Alabama. Martin is now running for the House of Representatives.

"I have received assurances not only from Bill Miller but from others high in the Goldwater command that the senator if elected will fill vacancies on the Supreme Court with states-minded conservatives," Martin told me.

"He will also appoint an attorney general friendly to the south," Martin said.

"When Goldwater is elected, he is sure to be president for eight years," Martin enthused. "That means the whole structure of the Supreme Court will be changed during that time. This means the south will sit in the high councils of Washington and all the policies of the present Supreme Court can be reversed."

Martin said that he had flown to Washington to confer with Senator Goldwater and his aides before San Francisco and had also conferred with them in San Francisco. He had an especially promising talk with GOP vice presidential candidate Bill Miller.

They had given him a flat pledge that the new attorney general and the new justices of the Supreme Court would all be prosegregationists in the Goldwater administration.

WILLIAM BUCKLEY JR., The National Review, New York — Re your defense of Goldwater's statement that "extremism in the defense of liberty is no vice. Moderation in the pursuit of justice is no virtue."

It's interesting to note that Euripides called moderation "the noblest gift of heaven"; Plutarch declared, "moderation is best and it avoids all extremes"; while St. Paul wrote, "every man that striveth for a mastery is temperate in all things." John Brown, an extremist who used violence during abolitionist days, was tried and hung. The southern secessionists and the northern abolitionists were both extremists and eventually got this country into civil war. Abraham Lincoln persistently advocated moderation. He once said, "in grave emergencies moderation is always better than radicalism."

HONOLULU—Senator Dan Inouye of Hawaii, after being married for 15 years, became a father for the first time this month. But he forgot to treat Senate colleagues to cigars. Simultaneously, Senator Tom Dodd of Conn., became a grandfather, also forgot the cigars.

Jackie and Democrats

Jackie Kennedy has been helping backstage to plan for the Democratic national convention. She will not attend the convention, but she has some definite ideas on how the convention should honor her late husband.

However, on one important point she and the brothers-in-law do not agree. They do not want any sadness or nostalgia at the convention, but rather motion pictures of the late president laughing and playing with his children, greeting members of Congress, relaxing at Hyannis Port, and getting a rousing welcome in Ireland, England, and Vienna.

Mrs. Kennedy thinks a little sorrow and ceremony would not be out of place. But she has been overruled by the majority of the family.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

If You 'Blow Your Stack' Cool Off, or Suffer

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.,
Newspaper Enterprise Association

Let's see what happens when you "blow your stack" when angry. It has been found that you take deeper breaths, your pulse quickens, your blood pressure rises and your digestion stops as the blood is drawn from your alimentary tract to your muscles.

In such blinding rage you may be especially prone to an accident if you are driving a car, operating a machine in a factory or handling hot soup in a kitchen.

Plainly such a state calls for cooling off. On the other hand, pent-up anger can cause chronically high blood pressure, peptic ulcer, colitis, angina pectoris and other so-called psychosomatic ailments.

Because anger causes a sudden squeezing of adrenalin into your blood it may be associated with a sudden pain in the region of your adrenal glands and a sudden surge of blood to your head may precipitate a headache.

Adrenalin poured into the blood served the primitive purpose of preparing a person for a sudden burst of energy—fight or flight. But in a civilized community neither of these actions is appropriate.

The Bargain Counter

Around the bargain counter
The women push and shove
And a controversy starts up
When each of two hold a glove,
They sometimes forget manners
And their tempers seem to flare
When neither will give up a glove
That one might have a pair;
There's a lot of conversation
As they look the bargains o'er
And a bolt of Satin ribbon
Goes a tumbling on the floor —
Somebody took the pin out
And as it goes round and round
It leaves a trail of ribbon
As it quickly is unwound —
"I mustn't stay here longer"
Pipes up one woman there,
"I've got an appointment
"At the shop to fix my hair —"
"I must go too," says another
"To get my dinner on —"
But a full half hour later
Neither one of them have gone,
And a gal who wears a 40
When all slips there she's gone through
Says: "I never get a bargain —"
"All those slips are 32 —"
One picked up a flask or perfume
Just to smell it — that was all —
But someone knocked against her
And from her hand it fell
Sprinkling everything with perfume,
A blue silk dress for tots —
A blouse of pink satin —
Were covered now with spots;
A woman with one earring
Was searching for the other
A small boy was a tugging
Whining: "I wanta go home, Mother,"
They talk about the remnants
To make this that —
One buys some purple ribbon
To retrim a last year's hat,
"Do you like this bracelet, darling?"
A mother asks a teen,
And when her daughters brightens
Added: "For me, I mean,"
"This hair rinse is a bargain —"
Said one, "But I'm afraid —"
As she looked the bottle over —
"It isn't quite my shade —"
"My children will be home soon
"I've simply got to go.
"Me, too," says another
"Having guests tonight, you know—"
They have a big discussion
On their family affairs —
One shows her family pictures
And the others all show theirs,
And they all just keep on staying
Because everybody knows
They won't leave that bargain table
Till time for the store to close.

FINDING THE WAY

The Small Bridge, First

BY RALPH W. LOEW, D.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

For more than 16 years, thousands of visitors to the United States and Canada from almost every country of the world have been the recipients of warm and sincere hospitality. Under the auspices of various organizations, such as World Hospitality, these visitors not only saw buildings, wonders of nature and factories. They spent weekends with new friends, explored kitchens and back yards, helped broil a steak or shared a family conversation.

Valuable as is this hospitality, no one supposes that it can solve international tensions. Life isn't quite that simple. Yet over and over again it has provided the bridge of friendship.

Why can't we try the same thing more frequently in our own neighborhoods? The subtleties of so many tensions in our cities, towns and villages demand that we break down the rigid barriers instead of perpetuating the "foreignness" of so many of our citizens.

Imagine what would happen if attorneys, ministers, carpenters, auto workers or housekeepers would entertain their parallel in some other racial or ethnic group. That wouldn't solve all of the problems but it would provide an area of understanding.

Hayikawa, the internationally famous semantics expert, has told of the value of "small talk." Two people can chat for a few minutes concerning the weather or sports or any other subject, simply learning to know one another. It is like the small bridges which the Japanese build across a ditch. They could step across, but the colorful little bridges provides the situation where two persons can meet and talk.

These small bridges of communication are needed in our communities.

It is somewhat shocking to know how many of us have never had a speaking acquaintance or personal friendship with someone in a different ethnic, cultural, racial or educational pattern. We are so busy entertaining our friends that we become strangers to those who are outside our little circles.

The problems of the world are far too complex for any of us to solve by ourselves. Chatting in your own back yard with a man of a different accent or skin tone or cultural background won't solve them all, either. But it will build that small bridge.

It's something that any one of us can do now. It might be exciting to see what would happen if that movement spread across the hemisphere!

We the Women

Hurrah for the Topless!

By Ruth Millett
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Women owe the designer of the topless bathing suit a standing vote of thanks. Thanks for stepping so far beyond the bounds of good taste and decency that women are forced to take a good, hard look at all that ugly, unfeminine, tasteless styles the men who design clothes for women have been dreaming up to make women look absurd.

First there was the sack, modest but so unbecoming to the feminine figure that men hooted at it. Undaunted by the sack's reception, the designers have kept bringing it back under first one name and then another.

Then there was the bikini — a style better suited for a striptease joint than a public beach. In the bikini, most women look repulsive. Those few who don't would look far more beautiful in something designed to subtly flatter the feminine form, instead of in a garment which blatantly cheapens it.

had in mind when he created the automatic—a 16-month job.

"I operated a slot machine route of my own, and I just got fed up with getting up at four in the morning to make repairs. I decided to make a simpler machine," he says.

He anticipates the only resistance to his new slow machine will come from "diehards who are going to demand handles."

"I'm very encouraged by the play my first model is getting. It appears to be very popular with women. And let's face it, they're the real slot machine players," La Vigna says.

Automation Catches Up With 'Bandit'

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Automation has caught up with that women gamblers' delight, the one-armed bandit.

Now there's a no-arm bandit. It looks pretty much like a regular slot machine but after you drop in the coin the wheels with pictures of cherries and bells are spun electronically.

This has certain advantages for the gambler. The conventional jackpot machine is operated two-handed — drop in the coin with the left, pull the lever with the right.

The new model employs the right for coin dropping, leaving the left free for holding drinks, clutching purses, digging for more change, or even scratching one's back. It also makes it easier for smokers and those who prefer operating two or three machines at one time.

For the casino, the electronic models are a lot of a bonanza. They don't require "elbow room" to the side and space at the rear for emptying coin boxes. This permits twice as many new ones in the same floor area.

And at a 900-per-hour coin-gulping rate, they permit a theoretical 3,500 extra plays ever 24 hours, if operated steadily.

Because the house always wins, this is important. Machines are set to keep anywhere from 10 to 30 per cent of the coins fed into them.

Slots, 18,000 of them, are big business in this haven of legal gambling. They grossed $81 million in Nevada in 1962, out of $675 million fed in.

But, says inventor Jack La Vigna, simplicity was what he

Charcoaling Is the Term For Backyard Chefs' Art

Local Pros Tell Secrets Of Success

By Larry Embry

From President Johnson's famous Texas barbecues to the average American backyard, charcoal briquets are really going up in smoke this summer and Sedalians are no exception. We visited three charcoal chefs recently who were willing to share some of their secrets and one even parted with a sauce recipe.

Maurice Hogan, 602 West Seventh, Sedalia's postmaster, enjoys a reputation as one of the city's best charcoalers and his steak sauce, which he labels "Sauce Maurice," is widely known.

"I wouldn't call myself an expert," Hogan confided modestly. "I've just been at it a long time."

"I think I had one of the first charcoal cookers in Sedalia and I introduced many of my friends to charcoal cooking."

Hogan first started charcoaling in 1949. He obtained a brochure from a Kansas City stove firm and purchased a charcoal cooker and a quantity of charcoal in stick form. The popular charcoal briquets were several years in coming, but have greatly simplified the preparation of an even bed of coals.

But don't call this type of outdoor cookery "barbecuing."

"Let's talk about it right," Hogan corrects. "It's charcoaling, not barbecuing."

Hogan has tried just about everything on the charcoal grill, but beef is his favorite and he has a fine knack with a steak, those who have shared his efforts relate.

One thing all charcoalers concur on is waiting long enough after lighting the fire before starting to cook.

"Don't start until the charcoal is covered with grey ash," says Hogan. "If you start before some of the charcoal will get on to the meat and while it may not hurt the flavor, it will hurt the appearance."

Hogan likes hickory chips for use in smoking pork, ribs, ham

ONE OF THE BEST—When Maurice Hogan, Sedalia postmaster, presides at the charcoal grill his guests wait with mouths watering for he enjoys the reputation as one of the best charcoalers in town. Two of his daughters, Katie, 7, and Martha Jane, 9, watch their father at work. Hogan, also a member of Sedalia's oldest steak club, is well known for his personal steak sauce, which he calls simply "Sauce Maurice." The sauce recipe is his secret.

or turkey, but his beef never gets the smoke treatment.

The cut of a steak is also important.

"You need a well marbled meat, but I advocate trimming off all excess fat. The fat will only drip and cause the fire to blaze up."

"I've tried all the gimmicks, but with beef I always go back to just plain charcoal cooking. First I sear the steaks on both sides and then let them cook slower on the open charcoal. Beef doesn't need anything but cooking and Sauce Maurice."

If you want to try this tangy sauce, however, you'll have to be Hogan's guest for "Sauce Maurice" is a closely guarded secret.

"I could tell anybody what the ingredients are, but I'm the only one who seems to be able to get the right taste," he said.

All the backyard chefs we talked to agreed that chicken is the most difficult of all meats to prepare on the open coals.

BURGERS COMING UP—Richard Esser, 501 Dal Whi Mo, charcoal hamburgers at his home in preparation for a family cookout. Esser is one of many Sedalians who have developed a real liking for charcoal cooked meats. Here he grills a favorite hamburger sandwich composed of two patties of ground beef surrounding an onion slice. Esser and his wife are members of Sedalia's oldest steak club, which meets monthly — rain or shine — for charcoal steaks. (Democrat-Capitol photos)

BASIC TOOLS—A bag of charcoal and this open grill represent an investment of just over $5 and are the basic items a backyard chef needs for charcoaling. From this simple grill, you can step up as you desire to models equipped with electric rotary spits, half hoods for a windbreak, full hoods for smoking of meats with the latest and most plush models including blowers, heat gauges and even timing devices. On the market now and already in use in at least one Sedalia home is a natural gas grill. The flame in this model heats a simulated briquet surface and provides an indirect cooking heat.

A FORMER CHICKEN CHAMPION—Kenny Schilb, 2408 Dennis Road, won the state fair chicken barbecuing contest in 1960 and placed second in '61 and '62. Charcoalers agree chicken is the most difficult of all meats to grill, but Schilb does so with marked success. His chicken secret is slow cooking over a low fire for a total of an hour and a half.

Comets Seek Show Business Smile

"If you had smiles as bright as your jackets" one of the judges at the American Guild of Music Convention held recently in Louisville, Ky., told the Comets, "you would go far."

That seems to be the one thing their teacher, Miss Ruth Bockelman, who has a radiant smile herself, has not been able to get across to the boys even though she has done an excellent job on their music, of which they have proof — three grand championship trophies in four years, which includes the championship they just brought home.

However, when the photographer simply said: "Smile," they all put on their best showmanship smiles, which they'll all need most in show business, if that is what they go into, and they do have dreams.

David Turner looks exactly like he did when he sat solemnly playing a guitar at the first Sidewalk Bazaar in front of Penney's, except, of course, he has grown up a bit. With him was his brother, Butch, quicker to smile and quicker to talk, now as he was then, and Miss Bockelman, who were also playing guitars. They called themselves The Hit and Miss Trio and that was the forerunner of the Comets.

Performances Begin

Ruth was trying to get them before the public, these talented youngsters of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Turner, and Butch, the older of the two by a year and perhaps a few months, is really Melvin Turner, Jr. They played everywhere they were asked to play because this was good training, she thought, and they wore white jackets with dark trousers and black or red ties.

David, who is now only 15, started taking lessons from Ruth back in 1957, and Butch, who had thought that playing a guitar wasn't the kind of playing he wanted, changed his mind and began taking lessons six months later. Butch wasn't very old then either, because he reached his 17th birthday on July 25. He plays the steel gui-

THE COMETS, who for the third time in four years have won the grand championship in their classification at the annual American Guild of Music Convention, hold trophies they brought home this year, along with many ribbons, from the convention held in Louisville, Ky. tar, bass guitar, and drums, while David has branched out to saxophone, as well as steel guitar and bass guitar. He has started on piano lessons, too, and went on his own with a music group last summer that did a little touring. That was when he started as an assistant teacher to Ruth, too.

In 1960 Jim Jonson, son of

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jonson, joined the group and is the drummer, but he also plays the guitar. In 1961 Ruth thought they were so good that she entered them in competition at the American Music Guild Convention in which she had participated herself as a budding musician. She was right about them — they were good, for at that convention held in St. Louis, they won the grand championship, which was really an accomplishment since there were probably close to 3,000 youngsters competing.

Comets are Born

Jim, who is now 19, has added just the right touch to the group which by the first Guild convention had become The Comets, not only with his ability as a drummer, but he is blond in contrast to the Turner boys who are dark.

Then in 1962 Danny Rau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Rau, joined The Comets. Danny is dark like the Turners and The Comets decided that Danny might well be taken for a brother, too.

Danny is 16 and very much like his dad, the Old Cotton-picker, quick to make comments and wisecracks on anything and everything. He plays the saxophone and the year he joined. The Comets went to Chicago, coming home with another grand championship.

One-Man Ice Box 'War'

C. C. Kelder Takes Action After Son Survives Crisis

Things may seem bad and we may be sorry when we read or hear of something happening to someone else, somewhere else, or even in our own home town, but when it comes to someone near and dear we are suddenly awakened to what it really means.

This was the situation C. C. Kelder, St. Joseph, found himself in when his five year old son, Curtis, disappeared and was found five hours and 15 minutes later in an old ice box in his father's junk yard.

There were a number of old ice boxes and refrigerators in the junk yard, and Kelder had read about other children being found dead in them, but he never gave a thought to the danger until his little curly headed blond boy, who had been playing around there, as he did practically every day, was nowhere to be found. When somebody finally looked in the old ice box there was Curtis where he had been trapped, still alive because a pipe that fit a hole in the box let enough air seep through to keep him alive. He was one child in a million who had escaped death from being trapped in an ice box or refrigerator.

Ice boxes became public enemy No. 1, as far as Kelder was concerned, for he realized that all over the country every day little boys and girls were dying in them because people like he never heeded the danger and youngsters, in their innocent play, were unaware that an ice box can well be a tomb.

So grateful that his son had been spared, Kelder started a crusade to make people conscious of the danger. He started first to wage a campaign by mail but it was a flop. Too many letters ended up in the wastebaskets. But he had to do something to awaken the people — mothers of little children, men who were abandoning ice boxes, men like him, who bought the old boxes and let them stand where children could crawl into them.

Seven years ago he began a campaign over the United States, Hawaii and Alaska. He has cut the clipping from the newspaper every time he has seen one about a child or children, for sometimes there are more than one, being found in an ice box. Usually they are dead, but now and then, like Curtis, they have been rescued in time.

WHAT IS CHIROPRACTIC?

"Chiropractic" is derived from two Greek words which together mean "done by hand." Pronounced Kiro-prak-tic.

What is done by hand? A doctor of Chiropractic uses his hands to adjust misplaced spinal bones (vertebrae) so they will return to their normal position. When a vertebra gets out of line it may pinch, block or stretch important nerves carried within the spine or just outside it. These nerves supply all the organs of the body with vital "living power" just as electric cables supply the machines of a factory with electric power.

What happens if a bone in the spine is misplaced and blocks a nerve?

The organ or organs supplied by the blocked nerve will lose efficiency and eventually will become diseased and open to infection.

What happens when the doctor of chiropractic restores the spinal bone to its normal place?

The nerve is free again to transmit the power supply from the brain to the affected organ, and the disease condition will clear up in the great majority of cases.

Doctors of Chiropractic are trained to find and correct misplaced vertebrae. Their work helps nature step in and heal the ailment caused by improper function of the nervous system.

Chiropractic has been practiced throughout the world as a healing art since 1895 and is recognized by the United States Government as one of the four major healing professions.

TUESDAY

HIGH ADVENTURE (5-6-13)

7 p.m. — World explorer Lowell Thomas joins a group of Arabian sailors as they navigate an 85-foot dhow on a 2,000-mile thrill-packed voyage along the old trade lanes of the Indian Ocean, from oil-rich Bahrain Island down the East African coastline to the isle of Zanzibar.

COMEDY SPECIAL (5-6-13) 9 p.m. — Phil Silvers and Polly Bergen are the stars — and the entire cast — of "Just Polly and Me," hour-long musical comedy special to be rebroadcast. The program opens with Silvers and Miss Bergen taking their bows at the end of a television show. Then, unable to flag a cab on a rainy night, they return to the studio to rehearse the offering, re-writing as they think the show should have been done.

ROUTE 66 (6-13) 10:15 p.m. — When Tod Stiles (Martin Milner) and Buz Murdock (George Maharis) try to assist three young people being forced off their Utah ranch by a severe drought, their aid is met with unexpected hostility, in "Ten Drops of Water."

RICHARD BOONE SHOW (4)

8 p.m. — "All the Blood of Yesterday." A former American O.S.S. officer (Warren Stevens) returns to Paris for a visit. Entering his hotel room, he is surprised to find an old friend, former French resistance fighter, who pleads for help in getting another friend out of Spain. Before the shock can wear off, he is surrounded by other, less friendly, faces out of his past — and is "persuaded" to undertake the dangerous mission to Spain "for old times sake."
GREATEST SHOW ON EARTH (color) (8-9) 8 p.m. — A former European Circus director is hired by boss Johnny Slate. "A Place to Belong" features Leslie Wales and Sally Carter.

WEDNESDAY

SUSPENSE (5-6-13) 7:30 p.m. — Keenan Wynn stars as a newspaper reporter who senses a big news story, in "Two-Bit Gangster." Sebastian Cabot is host-narrator. Wynn as Bill Ottman is puzzled by the fact that during a bank robbery a former hoodlum has given his life in defense of an innocent bystander. Later, a call from the red-haired robber gives the clue that helps fit the pieces into place.

THE VIRGINIAN (4-8) 6:30 p.m. — "A Bride for Lars." A neighboring rancher injures his back a few weeks before his wedding — and hires Trampas to pick up the mail-order bride (guest star Katherine Crawford.) Trampas is sent off with the warning that his life depends on bringing the girl back safely. Indians, outlaws, and a bewitchingly beautiful bride-to-be certainly don't make the assignment any easier.

MOVIE (4) 8 p.m. — "Bright Leaf." Based on Foster Fitz-Simons novel of love and conflict — and the turmoil of power that built one empire on the destruction of another. Driven off his land for becoming too attractive to a tobacco tycoon's daughter, tenant-farmer Brant Royle, has returned — armed. Financed by a 'business woman' (an old flame), he has joined forces with a medicine show man and a fellow who has just invented a unique device — a cigarette-making machine. Gary Cooper stars.
